DEMAND DEATH FOR SQUIRE

THIRTY DAY REPRIEVE FOR HAUPTMANN LIKELY

Bruno Hopeful Governor Will Grant Reprieve

Hauptmann's Defense Counsel Believes Stay Of Execution Will Be Given

NEW MOVE BEING PLANNED IN CASE

Writ Of Habeas Corpus May Be Sought By Bruno's Counsel

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 14.—Defense attorneys held high hope today that Governor Harold G. Hoffman would grant Bruno Richard Hauptmann a thirty-day reprieve between now and 8 o'clock Friday night when the condemned man is scheduled to die in the electric chair for the murder of the Lindbergh baby.

The basis for this optimism was not openly discernable in the face of the official silence maintained by the governor but nevertheless there was an undercurrent of opinion in Trenton that Hauptmann has at least a fifty-fifty chance of temporarily "beating the rap."

Hauptmann Cheerful

Hauptmann himself was reported to be "quite cheerful" by his spiritual adviser, the Rev. John Matthiesen, pastor of the Trinity Lutheran church, who said the prisoner "feels there is something new in the air" that is certain to help him.

The fact the prison's tailor has taken Hauptmann's measurements for his burial suit has not caused the condemned man to lose faith.

Hauptmann was reported to be considering making a formal request to Governor Hoffman for a stay of execution until he can speak to Dr. John F. "Jafsie" Condon, the Lindbergh intermediary who is enroute to Panama on a cruise. The prisoner is represented as wanting to have "a few minutes alone" with Condon. He also reiterated his willingness to answer any and all questions and to submit to a lie detector if necessary.

New Move Planned

Defense attorneys held a series of conferences and the report spread they planned to go into a federal court in Newark today or tomorrow and ask for a writ of habeas corpus. If this move failed Hauptmann's only recourse would be Governor Hoffman.

Governor Hoffman is understood to be in a receptive mood if a legitimate and logical reason can be advanced for delaying the execution. He is said to feel Hauptmann was guilty of extortion but douts he Scampering around under the autos on the Public Square on Monday afternoon was a large squirrel. It seemed not a bit frightened, but was making quite a leisurely exploration of the city's square.

Indications are that the old house adjoining the new federal building on the Public Square will soon be removed. It seems to be vacant at the present time, and only awaits the workmen who will do the razing work.

For the first time in weeks the sun was quite visible this morning, a sunshiny day being on the calendar for a change, apparently.

Westminster Students Are Against New Deal 380-128

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Jan. 14.—The Westminster college student body yesterday turned "thumbs down" on President Roosevelt and the New Deal administration to the tune of 380 to 128 against the renomination of the smiling, congenial president on the Democratic ticket.

The chief supporters of the Roosevelt government came from the Freshman class which cast 50 of the 128 votes for another Democratic term. Exercising either its sagacity or its conservativeness, the senior class returned only 13 votes for another New Deal term.

Men were more favorable to President Roosevelt than the women, by casting a third more votes for him than the women. Only one fourth of the total number of re-nomination votes were cast by women.

The faculty vote indicated a more even balance, with the odds slightly against another New Deal term.

In each of the separate class votes, the older the student group, the fewer the relative number of votes cast for the Democratic office-holder.

Political Warfare Over Court Issue Is Deemed Likely

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Political warfare opened in the house today as leaders weighed approval of a campaign to strip the supreme court of power to declare acts of congress unconstitutional.

With all eyes turning toward the 1936 presidential campaign, both Democratic and Republican strategists studied means of gaining political advantage.

The Republicans opened an attack upon the whole Roosevelt administration, with emphasis on its financial policies.

In the face of demands for hearings on bills to curb the power of the supreme court, Chairman Sumners (D) of Texas, summoned the judiciary committee into session.

Reps. Eaton (R) of New Jersey, and Taber (R) of New York, were chosen to open the Republican fight during debate on the $900,000,000 independent offices appropriation bill.

They planned to demand that congress scrap the Roosevelt pro-

Driver Freed Of Blame In Death

Jury Exonerates Andrew Mazur, Who Drove Car Which Killed Ralph Cambrotta

Andrew Mazur, of 112 Wilder avenue, was freed of any blame in the death of Ralph Cambrotta, resident of the county home, who was fatally injured when struck by Mazur's car near Cascade Park on Christmas night, at an inquest conducted by Coroner Orville Potter in Alderman Brice's court last evening.

Mazur testified that he had seen Cambrotta crouching alongside the road, and that when he had blown his horn as a warning signal, that Cambrotta had ran out into the road and into the side of his car as he tried to swerve it to avoid striking him. C. S. Brown, of New Bedford, who came along in his machine at the time the man was struck, and who was an eye-witness to the occurrence testified that the facts were the way Mazur had related them.

Didn't See Victim

Miss Ruth Wilkison, of 441 Neshannock avenue, who was with Mazur at the time Cambrota was struck, said that they had been to Ellwood City and had taken Mazur's sister to her home at 112 Wilder avenue, after which they were going

Three Alleged Kidnapers Die In Gun Battle

Cuban Police And Soldiers Rescue Youth From Kidnap Gang

OFFICERS SURROUND HIDE-OUT OF GANG

Nearly Dozen Suspects Are Trapped By Government Forces

By RICHARD ARMSTRONG
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HAVANA, Jan. 14.—In a thrilling gun battle in which three alleged kidnapers were killed, Cuban police, aided by soldiers, today solved the island republic's latest abduction for ransom and thereby kept a perfect record intact.

A force of 300 police and soldiers surrounded a gangster hide-out on a wooded farm near Guanajay, 30 miles west of Havana, trapping nearly a dozen suspects inside.

As the suspects were held at bay at the point of rifles and with armored cars cruising nearby roads, officials answering a tip went to a neighboring farmhouse and located Paulino Gorostiza, Jr., kidnaped son of a wealthy Spanish manufacturer, alive and well.

He had been abducted Saturday night and held for $50,000 ransom. Police located him on a tip given by one of seven men arrested during a night of intense activity near Guanajay.

The gun battle occurred, according to police chief Pedraza, when three men he termed kidnapers were surprised by soldiers in the vicinity of the hide-out. The kidnapers open fire, Pedraza said, and the soldiers returned it, killing the trio, not immediately identified, instantly.

Meanwhile Gorostiza was rushed to Havana.

Most of the seven arrested were taken as they left the hide-out during the siege by soldiers and police.

ORDER TO RAZE OLD CLARK HOME EXPECTED DAILY

Postmaster Awaits Letter; Home One of Oldest Dwellings In City

Wreckers within a very short time will begin work of razing the vacant Clark home which stands in the shadow of New Castle's new Federal building, Postmaster Richard A. Steen indicated today.

"My letter asking permission to proceed with the demolition should bring an answer soon," Mr. Steen said.

He wrote to the federal department for orders to proceed when the house was vacated a short time ago.

Almost a century old, the humble frame dwelling has seen New Castle transformed from a small town to a modern city. Mrs. Mary Wilder Clark, who died a short time ago, had lived in it for a half century, and before that it was the home of other pioneer residents.

When the Federal building was erected Mrs. Clark, upon her request to the government, was granted permission to live in the home for the rest of her life. She died at the age of 94. Upon her death it was the understanding that the government would raze the house.

Mrs. Joseph DeLillo, of Division street, who has been ill for the past week, is convalescing nicely.

County Salaries Are Not Changed

Salary Board Meets And Considers Salaries For All Employes

SEVERAL REQUESTS MADE FOR INCREASES

With a few minor changes salaries of Lawrence county employees will remain the same as last year. Efforts of some department heads to secure a raise for certain employees were unsuccessful at a meeting of the salary board Monday afternoon.

County Commissioners George H. Bolinger, Floyd Cotton and Joseph Hannon were of one mind on the salary question. They all felt that under present conditions expenses of the county should not be increased, and should be cut down wherever possible.

The salary board is composed of the three county commissioners and County Treasurer Jos. H. Hartland, who acts as secretary. Heads of departments, when they are before the board, also have a vote on the question of salaries.

Sheriff's Office

The Sheriff's office was first to come up for consideration. Salaries fixed, and which are the same as last year, are as follows: Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard, $4,000 a year; Chief Deputy Benjamin E. Hartland, $180 a month; Deputy Elmer

Wednesday Is Suburban Day

Along with the first month of the new year comes the monthly Suburban Day sponsored by 35 New Castle merchants. Suburban Day this month, is tomorrow, Wednesday, January 15 and following the precedent of other months the merchants will offer out-of-the-ordinary bargains at prices far below the usual run.

January is a good month to lay in clothes, shoes, and other articles of apparel. Its a good month for anything in fact when the prices are right and on Suburban Day the prices will be just that.

Started some months ago Suburban Day has developed into a feature which is looked forward to by thrifty shoppers. I is not only for the suburban dwellers but for the city shoppers as well and each month has seen an increasing interest in the day.

Today's paper carries the story of the bargains in the advertising pages. The ads tell in a positive fashion just what bargains are being offered. Turn to them now and see for yourself just what Suburban Day means this month and then make your plans for Wednesday.

New Castle Police To Be Required To Take Training, Says Mayor

Every police officer of the city of New Castle will be required to take a course of training from State police instructors beginning Thursday afternoon according to Mayor Charles E McGrath, who addressed members of the police department in council chambers, city hall, Monday. He said the course would call for two hours study twice a week and the course would last 12 weeks.

He said that heretofore, police have had no systematic training and he believes that if they are fortified with a knowledge of the profession which they have adopted they will be not only benefitting themselves but also the city which employes them.

State Police Instructor

The school will be in charge of State Police instructors and will be open to police from all of Northwestern Pennsylvania. The course will not cost police, or their respective cities anything and the mayor believes that in time, it will prove a big aid to better law enforcement.

In opening his address to the police yesterday, he said that "I want to prove worthy of being the mayor of New Castle. I want to thank the citizens and also you men for the part you had in helping me to become the head of the city.

"I have come into this office with no axes to grind. Neither do I have anything against you or anybody in the city. I was born here, raised here my family lives here, and I will al-

Say Specter Of Inflation Is Removed

Sponsors Of "Baby Bond" Bonus Compromise Bill Make Assertion

MORGENTHAU TO BE INTERROGATED

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—The new compromise "baby bond" bonus bill authorizing immediate payment of the World War bonus with government bonds, was reported favorably today by the Senate finance committee.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—The specter of currency inflation has been removed from the bonus issue, sponsors of the new "baby bond" compromise bill declared today in urging its immediate enactment into law.

Sponsors of the compromise called secretary of the treasury Morgenthau before the senate finance committee, to prove their assertion the bill's enactment would require no new taxes and would neither upset government finances nor increase general price levels. While Morgenthau may condemn the bill on other grounds, its spsonors believed he would approve it as a sound economic measure if congress really intends to "cash" the bonus.

Some Opposition

While the measure won strong support from administration senators, who suported President's Rosevelt's veto of the Patman Inflation bill last year, some opposition remained. Senators Byrd (D) of Virginia and Keyes (R) of New Hampshire, members of the finance committee, announced they were opposed to the bill.

"I am going to vote against it," said Byrd. "It anticipates payment of the bonus by nine years. It will

Westwood Loses His Frozen Calm As Trial Begins

Commonwealth Declares Verdict Must Be Either First Degree Or Acquittal

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 14.—Death in the electric chair was demanded today by the commonwealth for Justice of the Peace James J. Westwood for the slaying of his home-loving wife, Martha, as she slept in her bed last July 10.

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 14.—Dapper Jimmy Westwood lost his frozen calm today as the commonwealth outlined its case to a jury of five women and seven men who were asked to weigh the death penalty when they decide whether the McKees Rocks justice of the peace was guilty of the slaying of his wife, Martha, last July 10.

Westwood leaned forward tensely, his hands gripped together tightly, his face betraying signs of spasmodic nervousness as Assistant District Attorney Chauncey Pruger, the diminutive prosecutor, told the jury:

"We expect to establish a case of such cold-blooded murder that when you have considered all the evidence, you will probably have to pass on the question of the death penalty.

BRITAIN AND FRANCE PREPARE

Crucial League Decision Nears

Meeting At Geneva On Monday To Determine Future Course

SEA AND LAND DEFENSES READY

H. K. REYNOLDS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Jan. 14.—Britain and France lined up their sea and land defenses today in readiness for the League of Nations council meeting at Geneva Monday when the crucial decision must be faced—conciliation or more coercion.

Out of British ports steamed 19 warships on a "spring cruise" that will keep them within a days' sailing distance of the Mediterranean. They replace four ships withdrawn from Gibraltar this week.

At the same time it was learned that the French and British army general staffs have agreed that the French army shall assume a principally passive role in the event of a British clash with Italy.

The battleships Nelson and Rodney, the aircraft carrier Furious, the cruiser Cairo, and 15 destroyers of the reduced home fleet left Portsmouth and other havens for exercises off Spain, the admiralty announced. Later touching at Gibraltar, they will cruise among the African islands, finally returning to Gibraltar by February 17.

French Ships In Maneuvers

Ninety-two French warships also begin maneuvers in or near the Mediterranean in a few days.

Unless European war makes it necessary, France does not intend to mobilize her army and navy upon the first outbreak of Italo-English trouble, it was understood.

The British navy will bear the original brunt of the conflict, but will have the use of French naval bases in the Mediterranean. The French army will guard the Italian frontier, but only the last two yearly contingents of the French army will be called up for service, thus avoiding a fight in parliament over a general mobilization order. The French air force signal system will warn Britain of any Italian airplanes flying over French territory.

The defense committee of the British cabinet yesterday discussed possible contingencies of the European situation, but a final decision on the British stand to be taken at Geneva was left for a regular cabinet meeting tomorrow.

Confirming the recent International News Service revelation from Rome that Italy took advantage of the delay in the oil embargo plan to store up a big supply of oil, Walter Runciman, president of the Board of Trade, told the cabinet that Italy has enough oil to continue the war for at least seven months.

The Standard Oil Company, Runciman reported, alone has stores of about 108,000 tons of oil in Italy.

This factor, plus the attitude of the United States, will determine the British attitude when the oil ban comes up at Geneva.

DRIVER FREED OF BLAME IN DEATH

to Cocoanut Grove on the Ellwood City road to try and collect some money due Mazur, who had been employed at the place.

She said the windshield was covered with snow and ice on her side of the machine and that she was unable to see what happened. She said Mazur blew his horn, then swerved the car to the left and that they had collided with a roller, parked alongside the road. She said she was aware that they had struck someone, but could not see. Both she and Mazur were injured and had to be helped from the car, she stated.

Dr. John Foster said he had been called to treat Cambrotta on Christmas night, and that he had died the following evening, December 26, about 7:50, in the New Castle hospital. He was suffering with a compound fracture of the skull at the base of the brain and that several ribs had been broken and punctured the lung. The skull fracture and shock had caused his death, he stated.

Mazur Testifies

Mazur said that he was traveling east on East Washington street, and just as they reached a spot opposite the parking booth at the western end of Cascade Park, he noticed a man along the lower side of the road. He seemed to be in a crouching position, as if he had fallen and was just getting up. The man was about 50 feet away when he first saw him. It was a bad night, he stated, the wind whipping the snow across the road, making it difficult to see. When he blew his horn the man started to run across the road and he swerved his car sharply to the left to avoid striking him, but the man kept coming on, and ran into the side of the car. Their machine continued on and crashed into a road roller parked alongside the road.

He said Cambrotta was picked up and carried into a service station at that point, and that someone helped them out of their machine and into the service station. Cambrotta was bleeding from the mouth and nose and seemed to be badly hurt. He was taken to the New Castle hospital in an ambulance.

Saw Man Struck

C. S. Brown, of New Bedford, said he was traveling west on East Washington street and that just after he had come up a slight rise in the road, his lights had picked up the oncoming car and the man in the road. He said he saw the car swerve to the left and saw the man struck. He seemed to be whirled around and then fell in the road. Mr. Brown said he dragged him off the road and then with the help of another man, carried him into the service station. He did not go to the hospital, as he had his wife and children with him, one of them just a baby a few months old, and that he wanted to get them home as it was a bad night.

Angelo Cambrotta, brother of the deceased, said Ralph was 55 years of age. He said he had formerly resided on South Jefferson street. He did not know where he was living after that until called by Mrs. Perry Snyder, matron of the county home, and informed of the accident.

The jury which heard the testimony was composed of John C. Haney, J. M. McCandless, Charles E. Allen, Ernest Treharne, James Cooper and Leonard A. Campbell.

NEW CASTLE POLICE TO BE REQUIRED TO TAKE TRAINING, SAYS MAYOR

ways reside here. All my interest is centered in New Castle."

Mayor McGrath next explained the purpose of the meeting, stating that men had gone onto the police force without training and had not had an opportunity to be taught the police profession. He said that when he became Mayor he conferred with Major Lynn Adams concerning the instruction.

"I told Major Adams we could not send the police force to the State police training school at Hershey, and the major wishing to do his part said that he would have instructors came to New Castle which will be the home of the first police training school in western Pennsylvania.

To Start Thursday

"Police officers from any county in Northweresтn Pennsylvania has the opportunity of joining the class" the mayor said and at three p. m. Thursday the first meeting will be held. At the session will be judges, district attorneys, and other higher-ups.

Among those who will attend the meeting of the school will be Colonel Lynn Black, superintendent of the State Highway patrol. Black, like others, by their presence, will be loaning support to a movement, which not only police themselves but others, believed a meritorious move.

After the meeting at three p. m. Thursday there will be a dinner meeting at The Castleton, with Major Lynn G. Adams and Captain Thomas F. Martin as the principal spokesmen. Adams no doubt will speak of crime and law enforcement He also will tell the advantages of having trained police.

Mayor McGrath said that Chief of Police Haven is to be considered the head of the police force until further notice and that orders to the police will come from Haven. The mayor asked the police to consider Haven as the chief.

He said the police as well as himself, should have the best interest of the city at heart and that any personal differences police have between themselves should be laid aside during the eight hours they are on duty.

The mayor said that police officers in drawing wages from the city owe a debt to the city and this can be paid by giving eight hours diligent work to the city. "That is what I expect from you. I would expect it from an employe in private life," he added.

"If you cannot work under these conditions go to the head of the department. If he cannot work under the rules of the department he should let this be known to the proper authorities" the mayor declared.

He concluded his address by stating that he had arranged for the training for benefit of the police and also the city.

Fail To Recover Bodies Of 28 Lost In Sea Disaster

(International News Service)

ASTORIA, Ore., Jan. 14.—Grudgingly the sea, which claimed 34 lives at dawn Sunday when the States Line freighter Iowa was buffeted by a 90-mile gale onto Peacock Spit, refused to relinquish its victims today.

Six bodies of the Iowa's entire crew were recovered and identified. The identified dead were:

Marion J. Perich, carpenter, Portland.

Frank Hluick, first cook, Grovestown, N. H.

Charles Ogan, third assistant engineer, San Pedro.

August O. Meyer, boatswain, Portland.

Karl G. Bendixen, chief engineer, Bellevue, Wash.

James McHenry, oiler, Philadelphia, Pa.

Coroner Hollis Ransom, comparing reports with coast guard stations, finally fixed the number of recovered bodies at six. Earlier the coast guard reported ten had been found.

Hundreds of searchers, including sorrowing relatives of the Iowa's crew, continued to patrol a 13-mile stretch of wreckage-strewn beach while coast guardsmen resumed their grim watch of the sea.

Three Amphibian planes will continue search for additional bodies today.

It was possible, coast guardsmen pointed out, that many of the bodies still might be tangled in the Iowa's wreckage, but a lifeguard boat approached the wreck at low tide and reported no bodies were sighted.

Senate Committee To Frame Farm Aid Bill To Replace AAA

Agriculture Committee To Prepare Own Measure To Meet Situation

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Taking the bull by the horns, the Senate Agriculture committee set out today to write an all farmer's farm aid program to replace the AAA, invalidated by the supreme court.

The committee was called in special session by its chairman, Senator Smith (D) of South Carolina, militant member of the senate farm bloc, who made it plain at the outset that it was to be devoted entirely to farmers—real dirt farmers, or their representatives.

It appeared that parlor agricultural experts or farm "brain trusters" were not invited to the conference. Calling the committee and the 100 odd farmers and farmer's representatives together, Smith said:

"I hope those who are real farmers and real representatives of farmers will give the committee their views."

That was all, but the chairman's words brought smiles and a ripple of laughter from other members of the committee and the audience.

Keyes said:

"I am still opposed to the bill. I can't support it under present circumstances when we need more money for relief and more money to refund the processing taxes unlawfully collected under the unconstitutional AAA. This is not the time to pay the bonus."

Speculate On President's Attitude

Speculation was rife on Capitol Hill over the President's attitude toward the compromise. Administration senators, avoiding questions about his position, merely announced the compromise would be enacted into law whether or not it is vetoed.

One high administration spokesman said:

'The President told us to go ahead and draft our bill in a form that would not disturb the nation's economic structure and not lead to inflation of the currency. He said he would study our bill, after we drafted it. Frankly, we don't know whether he will approve or veto it. If he vetoes it, we will enact it over his veto."

With spokesmen for the three great veterans organizations—the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Disabled American Veterans, endorsing the compromise, house leaders promptly approved it. They said the house would accept it as soon as the senate passes it.

Chairman Harrison (D) of Mississippi, co-author of the compromise, announced he hoped the senate would pass the bill this week. He will have it ready to report when the senate reconvenes Thursday. If the senate passes it by Saturday, the veterans should know early next week whether the bonus finally is to cashed.

good woman, a devoted wife and mother, being wantonly slaughtered in her bed.

"It is my opinion and belief that this is a case where you will have to find the defendant either guilty of murder in the first degree or not guilty. There can be no compromise.

"Here, we have a malice of a husband for a wife whom he no longer loved, a personal malice for a woman he humiliated.

"Murder in the first degree is wilful, deliberate, and that's what this killing was."

Pruger then related the story of the slaying to the all-married jury which shortly before on orders from Judge William H. McNaugher had visited the death scene.

Loses His Calm

Westwood lost his calm for the first time when he met his eldest daughter, Bertha, 20, in the courtroom today. The girl, who has "mothered" the other two Westwood children, went into her father's arms in a dramatic court room scene. Westwood's face trembled convulsively. Tears blinded his eyes. He put his arm around the girl, placed his face against her cheek, patted her arm and held her tightly. Then, he buried his eyes in her shoulder, clinging to her.

Finally, Westwood wept as Bertha tried to smile through her own tears.

"How are you, Bertha; how is everybody at home; how are you darling?" he managed to ask.

Pruger told the jury the commonwealth will show that Westwood and Tim Drexler, his constable indicted as an accessory, slipped away from a gay roadhouse party, sped to the Westwood home, and then returned to the nightclub before their absence could be noted.

Ample Time

"He had ample time to leave, to get home, to slink in the back yard, up the steps in the rear of the house and to fire three shots through the window into the body of his sleeping wife" Pruger asserted.

Meanwhile, in another strange angle of the case, witnesses testified before a workmen's compensation referee that George Matuza, who was to have been the commonwealth's chief witness, could not have been accidentally killed while at work at a forging machine. A coroner's jury pronounced the death accidental but the insurance company, declining to pay compensation to the family of the man who said he saw Westwood fleeing as his wife was shot, asserted "big George" was not killed by an accident but perhaps as the results of a fate more sinister.

When court convened this morning, the jury was taken to the second floor flat where Mrs. Westwood was killed as she slept.

Rural Patrons Are Mighty Thoughtful

If you live on a rural mail route, don't feel that New Castle's rural postmen fail to appreciate the little care you take for them when snowy days make it hard for them to drive their cars close to mail receptacles.

Superintendent of Mails David B. Thomas today reported that numerous carriers on country routes had asked him to thank patrons for their kindness.

In some cases, however, the carriers have driven cars close to boxes and at the same time taken the chance of ditching their machines in the snow heaps.

REPORT JAPAN TO QUIT NAVAL PARLEY

cision, plunged into immediate bilateral discussion in an attempt to salvage something of the wrecked parley Japan will leave tomorrow.

In session only a month, with long recess taken out for the Christmas holidays, the naval conference early ran up against Japan's adamant demand for parity with the United States and Great Britain, the prime point of her "common upper limit" plan, and has not progressed noticeably since.

Face Saving Move

To save face at home, the Japanese delegates are expected to formally quit when the conference resumes tomorrow, It was believed possible, however, that they would leave one or more observers.

British and American delegates decided this morning they would agree to allow such observers attend future conference sessions, although they would be forbidden to vote or make any remarks.

If the four remaining nations—Britain, the United States, France and Italy—should conclude a pact, then Japan probably would be invited to join in it, along with Germany and Russia.

"Funeral arrangements" for the conference as a five-power parley as arranged by the delegations provide that Japan will insist upon formal discussion of their "common upper limit" plan, getting from each delegation a formal statement of its position on the plan.

The British have informed the Japanese they can expect opposition form all delegations. Then the Japanese will formally withdraw, sticking to the position, much ballyhooed in Japan, that Tokyo must have parity or nothing.

POLITICAL WARFARE OVER COURT ISSUE IS DEEMED LIKELY

gram and inaugurate a rigid economy campaign to balance the federal budget.

Democratic answers to the Republican attack were planned under the direction of Rep. Woodrum (D) of Virginia.

Meantime a house Democratic leader of prominence said privately that legislation to strip the supreme court of its power to scuttle acts of congress was being considered rather than a constitutional amendment.

"There undoubtedly is considerable sentiment in the house for restrictions on the courts," said Chairman Sumners of the judiciary committee.

"The committee, however, will not consider the matter in hot blood. In other words, I think it can be understood that the committee will proceed cautiously in dealing with the courts."

The supreme court decision of yesterday, holding that lower federal courts properly enjoined processing taxes and ordering $200,000,000 held in courts returned to taxpayers, aroused further indignation of the "anti court bloc."

One of the cardinal points in the campaign of this bloc is to strip lower federal courts of power to enjoin acts of congress.

Whether the supreme court would bow to a congressional act saying that it cannot declare acts invalid brought divided expressions of opinion from congressional lawyers.

Many lawyers contend that congress has the power while others hold that the court—deriving its power from the constitution—would challenge such a law.

Sumners said that so far as he knew there never had been a court decision bearing on the issue.

Most of the house Democratic leaders continued to maintain silence on the court issue, awaiting word from the White House before deciding upon any policy.

Former Russian Countess Guest Speaker At Woman's Club Monday

Highlighting a season of outstanding programs for the Woman's club of New Castle, was the appearance of Mrs. Victor Blakeslee (Irina Skariatina) former Countess Keller, of the Russian nobility, in Highland U. P. church, Monday afternoon.

Combining a charming personality with a flashing smile now and then, to lighten the seriousness of ner subject, "Russia of Yesterday and Today", the author and lecturer held the keen interest and attention of a large audience in the main auditorium, for an hour and a half, meriting hearty applause.

Previous to her appearance, Mrs. A. B. Street opened the meeting by reading the creed, the president, Mrs. R. S. Tannnehill, announced a short memorial service as a tribute to a lately departed and beloved member, Mrs. R. G. Maxwell. Mrs. D. M. Arnold read a beautiful memorial poem and the lights were dimmed for silent prayer.

Mrs. A. M. Shumaker introduced Mrs. Blakeslee, of whom it is interesting to know a little of her background. Born in St. Petersburg, Russia, the daughter of a Princess in her own right and a general in the Imperial Army, the former Countess served as a lady-in-waiting at the Russian Court. Escaping to this country in 1923, she married an exnavy man and lived in America 10 years, prior to her return to Soviet Russia in 1932, when she found vastly different circumstances than existed under the old regime.

Her story dealt with her early training, guided by conservative Royalist parents, and the influence of her broader-minded educators which prepared her, perhaps more so than many others, for the Revolution which occurred in 1917, when the ruling house was overthrown. She traced the three most important influences on her life; (1) her parents who believed in the divinity of the Czar; (2) her teachers; (3) her religion which was directed by a humanitarian.

She was an eye witness to the beginning of the Revolution, during which her parents were killed, and she herself imprisoned and sentenced to death, from which she escaped miraculously. Through contacts made while at medical college, with American friends, she was able to come to America.

Her return was arranged, after many fruitless efforts, on the strength of fairness in her writings, and in the second part of her talk, the speaker gave her interpretations of the new Russia under the Soviet regime.

She noted (1) Progress in the educational system, illiteracy having fallen from 69 per cent before the Revolution, to 9 per cent; the whole country was being put into schools, everybody studying something, everywhere. The status of the peasant was raised from that of slaves to individuals, each bent on having his share in the new freedom; women had been brought out of seclusion and played as important a part as the men, in the new day. Instead of an inferiority complex, they had a super-superiority complex which was being worked out gradually.

(2) She noted Russia becoming industrialized like America; new and better living conditions for the workers, and (3) the change in religion. The political influence, dating back to Peter the Great, was absent; superstitious and illiterate, confused minds seeing light; the younger generation, particularly the women, happier though mechanically inclined.

In concluding her informative discourse, Mrs. Blakeslee stated her aim on the lecture platform, as well as in her books, was to interpret the land of her birth, as she sees it, to the American people, likewise interpreting the land of her adoption, as she sees it, to the Russian people.

Following the program, clubwomen and their guests were privileged to greet the former Countess, finding in her a vivid and charming a personality socially, as she has on the platform. She was dressed simply, in a dark afternoon dress and small hat, her costume being distinguished by an extremely long single pelt Russian sable neckpiece, which was decidedly unusual.

Mrs. H. M. Kirk and Mrs. E. W. Greiner were hostesses for the afternoon, and they were assisted in serving by the social committee, of which Mrs. James Hurst is chairman. At a beautifully adorned tea table, centered with an attractive arrangement of cut flowers, pink roses, narcissus and freezia, flanked on either side by tall pink tapers in three branch candelabra, several of the clubwomen poured. These included Mrs. E. F. G. Harper, Mrs. Frand Woods, Mrs. Archibald H. Davis, Jr., and Mrs. A. B. Street.

To further enliven the occasion, a trio of talented musicians, Dorothy Fisher, piano, Arvo Aho, violinist, and Vincent Evanoski, cello, played a group of lovely selections. Their numbers included "The Blue Danube Waltz" by Strauss; Brahms' 'Hungarian Dances, 5 and 6"; Victor Herbert's "Melodies". Mrs. Eliah Kaplan arranged this part of the social entertainment.

Mrs. Blakeslee was accompanied to New Castle by Mr. Blakeslee. They are residents of Philadelphia, with many contacts in this community. Mr. Blakeslee, a naval reserve officer; is a brother of Elmer Blakeslee, who heads the engineering firm which built the Cathedral of Learning, at Pittsburgh.

On next Monday, January 20, the Woman's club will have another worthwhile program in Highland U. P. church, with Mrs. Louis Kohn chairman.

Three Local Sisterhoods Have Big Joint Meeting Monday Eve

Monday evening marked the first time in years that members of New Castle's three sisterhoods, Beth Shalom, Temple Israel and Tifereth Israel, assembled together when approximately 200 persons enjoyed a most delightful joint meeting in Tifereth Israel Synagogue, South Jefferson street.

The banquet room of the synagogue was a picturesque sight, so beautiful were the arrangements. Tables were set in a "U" form with a profusion of cut flowers adding much color to the decorations. Side tables were filled with flowers and lighted candles. A large cake formed the centerpiece of the main table. The cake was trimmed with four artificial doves, three in silver colors representing the sisterhoods, and later the doves were presented to presidents of the sisterhoods and to Maurice Samuels, president of the Tifereth Israel Synagogue congregation.

Seated at the main table were the heads of the sisterhoods, Mrs. N. Ehrlich, Temple Israel, Mrs. Chas. Levine, Beth Shalom, Mrs. Maurice Slaven, Tiffereth Israel, and Rabbi Pinchos Katz, Tifereth Israel, Rabbi Schwartz, Beth Shalom and Rabbi Diamond, of Temple Israel.

The highlight of the occasion was an appropriate program. Rabbi Katz offered the opening prayer and Mrs. Maurice Slaven gave an address of welcome. Mrs. N. Ehrlich, who acted as chairman, introduced those taking part in the program, performing her duties capably. Piano solos by the talented Natalie Ehrlich, Jean Miller, Jeanette Kulkin and Harriet Silverman added the musical touch to the affair. A reading by Mollie Ginsberg was another feature.

"Snapshots of the Three Sisterhoods" was cleverly presented by the three presidents, Mrs. Maurice Slaven, Mrs. Charles Levine, and Mrs. N. Ehrlich. The women expounded on the desires and ambitions of the congregations which they represent. An address by Rabbi Diamond, of Temple Israel, pleased the audience tremendously. He chose as his topic, "Judaism and Our People."

Mrs. William Cosel gave an inspiring talk on, "Flashlights on Peace." The program continued with the signing of a peace mandate by those present. A vocal selection, "Nu, Nu, Nu" by Rabbi Pinchos Katz, created much merriment. The presentation was thoroughly enjoyed.

Miss Jeanette Ginsburg's impromptu talk, criticising and complimenting the participants, was cleverly done and proved another highlight. A short talk by Rabbi Schwartz, "Friendly Attitude Among Our People" followed by Benediction by Rabbi Schwartz, brought to a close the event.

Before serving of dainty refreshments, by the following hostesses, members of the Tifereth Israel Sisterhood, Mrs. L. Zieve, Mrs. H. Waldman, Mrs. M. Lerner, Mrs. J. Cobb, Mrs. M. Greenburg, Mrs. M. Weinberg, Mrs. S. Kline, Mrs. S. Wolfe, assisted by members of Beth Shalom and Temple Israel, Rabbi Katz sang, "Hatikvoh," accompanied on the piano by Rabbi Schwartz. The group joined in on the chorus.

The event was easily one of the most successful affairs held in sometime, among the Jewish residents of the city. Last night's meeting served as a means of bringing together the three organizations. It not only did this, but created a lasting bond. Guests were present from Pittsburgh, Detroit, Cleveland and Beaver Falls. Husbands of members of the organizations were special guests.

At a suitable hour delicious refreshments were served to the guests by a committee consisting of Mesdames Hattie Nowling, Margaret Sherbine, Elwilda Morgan and Miss Jessie Harper.

One out-of-town guest, Mrs. Louise Vickery, of Altoona, Pa., was present and enjoyed the festivities of the affair.

C. D. of A. Members

The C. D. of A. members assembled in the K. of C. hall Monday evening for a business and social meeting combined. After the usual transactions time was devoted to bingo, prizes falling to Mrs. Martha Sullivan, Mrs. Elizabeth Semler, Mrs. Sara Wirtz, Mrs. Lucy Lemer and Miss Cordelia Edgington.

In bringing the affair to a close refreshments were served by Mrs. Frances Cole, chairman, with Mrs. Bernadine Ryan, Mrs. Lucy Lemer and Miss Jean Norris assisting. The latter mentioned will be hostess at their next meeting, to take place on January 27th, at the same place.

BITTER PRESIDENTIAL RACE?

MANY persons are of the same opinion as James A. Farley, chairman of the Democratic national committee, who predicts the forthcoming presidential campaign will be a bitter and dirty one.

There always is a certain amount of unavoidable bitterness connected with a race for the presidency. Party favoritism is whipped into a white heat at such times.

Many things are said and done under the spur of the moment which are later regretted.

It is almost impossible to eliminate that factor in a national political contest.

But it is to be hoped the Democratic chairman is a poor forecaster as far as his prediction of dirtiness is concerned. Nothing ever is attained by mud-slinging, regardless of what party starts the throwing.

THE GENTLE ART OF BEING DISLIKED

A Cleveland psychologist has it all figured out that people annoy others because of certain offensive "personality traits." Even the winner of a popularity contest may have four or five of these traits, while a person very heartily disliked may have a score as high as 25.

The characteristics that rub others the wrong way range from laughing too much at your own jokes and borrowing money too frequently to affecting superiority and sticking your nose into other people's business.

It is an interesting list and might make the basis of a good parlor game for proving how offensive one's neighbors and acquaintances are. That its compilation, however, might make anyone get rid of any annoying traits he may possess is doubtful. Chronic bores, braggarts and pests are likely to remain that way whether or not their ability to annoy others is made the subject of psychological statistics.

OUR EDUCATIONAL PLANT

America's public school system (elementary and high schools only) cost only $78,094,687 to operate in the school year 1879-80, as compared with $1,504,668,982 in the school year 1933-34. The cost of operating the schools, per pupil, increased from $12.71 to $67. The total cost of the system was multiplied almost 20 times; the cost per pupil was multiplied almost five times.

In those years the increase in the number of teachers, supervisors, and principals was not so great—from 286,593 to 869,518. But the average salary mounted from $195 to $1,217.

Enrollment in the public elementary schools gradually swelled from 9,757,118 in 1880 to 20,729,511 in 1934, but high school enrollment leaped from 110,277 to 5,656,412. Today the high schools are still growing, though at a reduced rate, whereas the elementary schools have been decreasing in enrollments since 1930.

One point should be clear, that the time of monstrous growth is past and the time of intensification and improvement is here.—Portland Oregonian.

PLUMAGE VOTE

Drum majors, the world over, will be uplifted by reports taking their joyous course across the Atlantic that there are distinct signs of elevation for the headgear of Britain's soldiery. For the drum major, these many years, has been, by and large, a strikingly lonely, albeit ever an impressive, figure. On him has devolved the duty of carrying on the glorious tradition of military adornment. Now it appears that he may be the herald of an even more gorgeous day.

The cause of all this is seemingly a not unpardonable vanity on the part of English sons of Mars. There are in London rumors—apparently credible—that the shako is coming back. Truth to tell, this overpowering affair, cylindrical or conical in shape—if conical, with the cone effectively truncated—all surmounted with the flowing plums or perky pompon never has entirely disappeared when soldiery is on dress parade in Albion. The Life Guards are a sufficiently conspicuous example. But a real revival of the shako has not, up to the present time, taken place. The outlook is that the officers of many a regiment of the infantry of the line will be told to give up the spiked blue helmet for the shako when full military dress-up is required, and, in addition, it is whispered by the knowing that the levee headdress for the officers of the Royal Field Artillery may hereafter be the busby.

Here is an obvious and excellent suggestion for the advocates of peace: Fewer arms, but more trappings for the military. In other words, let as many swords as possible be beaten up into plowshares, but along with this, to make the soldiers feel even more important, give them medieval latitude as to costume.

FOREIGN TRAVEL "AT HOME"

Tourist travel to America's island paradise, Hawaii, has increased more than one hundred per cent in the past two years. This is gratifying not only from the viewpoint that many Americans have forsaken Europe to see the United States and its possessions, but also because of increasing curiosity on the part of foreign travelers to see America. Current turmoil in Europe has practically banned that part of the globe so far as people bent on vacationing are concerned, so America benefits.

It is acknowledged by all who have been there that Hawaii is one of the few places on earth where the actuality more than justifies the descriptions. It has the subtle charm of a foreign country. It has all the glamour and color of the South Seas. And with all this it is America with all American conveniences, customs and transportation service.

Mark Twain described Hawaii in terms that were almost delirious. Robert Louis Stevenson wrote about it. Jack London returned again and again. A famous American world traveler of more than twenty years' experience, recently wrote: "....For decades we practically inundated Europe and its worn-out old countries with our thousands of tourists and their millions of freely spent dollars, all of which earned us nothing but the thinly veiled contempt of nationalities who too often, and frequently with outright frankness, robbed us with everything we purchased.

"Americans are discovering that America and its possessions are actually worth seeing first. Where before the American family expensively traveled to France, England or Italy, it is now as often as not investigating Alaska, Panama, Samoa, and, more important than all from the viewpoint of charm and rest and climate, Hawaii.

"The Islands are the most beautiful jewel in the casket of American treasures, and I am not altogether sure they are not the most beautiful jewel in the world."

Ethiopia's soldiers are conducting their war along economical lines. Instead of opening up a barrage with six-inch guns they merely roll a few rocks down over a hill.

Nature's Tantrums.
Mr. Jones Still Will Lend.
Usual Idiocy.
Dr. Haber Remembered.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

TRAVELERS from the South arriving in Washington, Philadlphia or New York Sunday found to their surprise beautiful sunshine, no trace of snow, mild weather. Undisciplined nature like an undisciplined child has tantrums frequent and short.

The round surface of the earth is so vast to us human microbes that we forget how many things may happen.

The only survivor of a small village in Colombia was made to realize it during a recent earthquake. Where the village once stood, the greater crater of a volcano now opens wide, and the village is somewhere at the bottom of the crater. What happened there could happen anywhere.

JESSE JONES, chairman of Reconstruction Finance Corporation, tells the banks that he will go on lending government money until they make credit and loans easier. Mr. Jones says:

"The big fellow with unquestionable credit borrows on his own terms, at low rates. Credit for the average business is too sparingly given at much higher rates."

THE MAN who wants to speculate in stocks and has the necessary collaterial can borrow at as low as 1 per cent a year; whereas the little man connot borrow at all and the industrialist or business man who would promote employment is no longer considered a good risk.

Banks cannot be blamed, they would like to lend their money at a profit instead of leaving it stored up in their vaults. They do not know what is good security or whom to trust. So the government probably will continue in the lending business.

A CABLEGRAM sent to London during the war by J. P. Morgan and read to the Senate Munitions committee said this country was discussing its belief that Europe would not repay enormous sums being borrowed from the United States. In his cablegram Mr. Morgan expressed doubt as to whether the suggestion was due to the "usual newspaper idiocy" or to German propaganda.

No modest newspaper man would deny that "usual newspaper idiocy" does occasionally crop up, but on that occasion, the "newspaper idiots" were on the right track.

Eurepean countries are not paying and do not intend to pay eleven thousand million dollars borrowed at that time. That is a large sum of money, even for J. P. Morgan and Company.

The German-Jewish scientist, Dr. Fritz Haber, Nobel prize winner and inventor of the synthetic nitrate process, who made it possible for Germany to carry on the war, only to be driven to suicide by Nazi persecution, was praised and applauded.

The man who praised him was Dr. Max Planck, German scientist of such profound learning as would make Hitler or almost anybody dizzy.

Max Planck is the inventor or discoverer of the "quantum theory" which shows that electricity and other forces travel in "small separate packages," not in a flowing stream.

THE BEGINNING of the new year in Germany sees the death of 1,000 newspapers, "suspended" by official order because they opposed Nazi rule. Chancellor Hitler perhaps remembers Napoleon's statement:

If I granted liberty of the press my government could not last three weeks."

He might also remember that some governments that refused liberty of the press have also failed to last. The government of the czars was of that kind. Sitting on the safety valve is one way, but not the safest.

DIALOGUE

Jim: So you say that every president can be compared to some other president in the way they conduct their office?

Joe: Yes, that is absolutely right.

Jim: With whom would you compare F. D. Roosevelt?

Joe: Well—I had not thought of him.

Jim: There is only one man in history who ever approached F. D. and that is Columbus.

Joe: How do you figure that out?

Jim: Well—Columbus started out not knowing where he was going. When he got there he didn't know where he was. When he got back he didn't know where he had been, and he did it all on borrowed money.

STEADINESS

One secret of success is steadiness. To succeed one must do the same type of high-grade work day in and day out. A worthy goal is not won by working intensely for one week and then easing off.

A nice boss will pay slight attention to a new employee until he has been on the job a month or two. By that time the real character of the new man begins to manifest itself.

The record of the typical all-American footbal player will reveal that besides performing some unusual feat in almost every game, he played a steady game every minute he was on the field. The successful athlete is a master of every department of the game in which he excels. Shute is equally skilled in putting, driving and the use of his irons. He plays every shot as though the outcome of the match depended on its success.

Steadiness requires courage and perseverance—qualities that, in some part, are denied to no one. If you cultivate these qualities you can enjoy some measure of success whatever your job may be.

By FRANCINE MARKEL

By FRANCINE MARKEL

Dear Miss Markel—I have received an invitation to a house christening and reception thereafter. Must I bring a gift to the baby; also what kind of clothes should I wear? I am not to be a godparent. JOAN M.

Answer—If you have not already sent a gift to the baby when its birth was announced you should then bring along with you some small gift, such as flowers, a piece of wearing apparel, a toy or perhaps a set of tiny gold baby pins. Many people give the mother a gift instead of the baby, feeling that a newborn baby is usually deluged with gifts for which it may have no use.

A christening reception is very much like an afternoon tea and the same kind of clothes should be worn to the former as one would naturally wear to the latter.

The women should wear afternoon dresses, the men either sack suits or formal afternoon clothes (cutaway coats, striped trousers, etc.), according to the formality or informality of the occasion.

AAA Victory May Be Defeat.
Conservatives Are Wondering.
Morgan Profits Sadden British.

Central Press
New York Bureau
235 East 45th St.
By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Conservative interests are beginning to wonder whether they won a victory on the supreme court's AAA decision. The doubt arises over something far more disturbing than processing taxes or government regulation—inflation and higher taxes.

The ease with which a two-billion-dollar bonus bill is passed indicates inflationary sentiment, these conservatives hold.

Furthermore, the farmer, seeing all roads to crop regulation and price guarantees blocked turns to the "easy road" of inflation.

An anomaly exists in that a government may hand out money head over heels if it gets no value returned, but the moment it obtains, through crop regulation, a value in exchange, courts declare that an invasion of states' rights.

DEFENDER?

President Roosevelt's appeal in the farm states may be on the basis that he is a defender of the federal constitution.

It may run along the lines that he interprets the document in the manner that the Founding Fathers desired it to be construed—an instrument for the benefit of the whole people.

If, therefore, judges declare crop regulation, for the relief of farmers, unconstitutional, are they not violating the principles of the constitution? Are they not making it a class document? In brief, if manufacturers are permitted to hoist their prices through a tariff, which is a tax on the whole people, why are farmers prohibited from raising their prices to permit them at least to meet their costs, through a processing and regulatory tax?

Is it not possible—the Democratic plea may be—that supreme court interpreted not the constitution but its own views, derived from its own prejudgeship background?

The Republican party once made a campaign on such an issue—and won. The candidate was Abraham Lincoln. He was gravely perturbed at the beginning of his campaign as to how to approach the Dred Scott decision, which was adverse to his candidacy. He approached it on the ground that the supreme court, being human and being influenced by its individual prejudices, had swayed from the intent of the Founding Fathers and the constitution.

G. O. P. SCHISM?

It is not the Democratic party that is likely to be split over the question of fiat money and a farm program. It is the Republican party.

President Roosevelt will stand on his money and farm record.

The Republicans are faced with a strong inflationary group, marshalled under the Borah banner. And no satisfactory solution of the farm problem has been evolved. Nor is there likely to be one, for the west and the south present demands that are anathema to the east.

EMBARRASSING

Senator Gerald P. Nye's investigation—through the senate committee he heads—of bankers' influence on American entry into the World war draws in one figure of the Wilson regime who still is alive. Senator William G. McAdoo of California was secretary of the treasury in 1915 when J. P. Morgan & Company, banker and purchasing agent for the Allies, found that the neutrality ideas of former Secretary of State William J. Bryan and two members of the Federal Reserve board, hindered their plans.

McAdoo swerved President Wilson in a stirring letter making a plea for our "best customers", the Allies, who through their purchases had brought "prosperity" to the United States.

The United States thereupon, through J. P. Morgan & Co., and other international bankers, became so much involved in the financial fate of Great Britain and her allies, that inevitably the country was drawn into war.

McAdoo had the two dissenting members of the Federal Reserve board over-ridden through terming them pro-German—a favorite device at that time for silencing anybody who favored real neutrality.

Incidentally, British taxpayers are not too happy at reading that J. P. Morgan & Co. obtained $30,000,000 in commissions on purchases made in the United States. That was in addition to the commission on loans floated.

Nor are American taxpayers any too happy over the fact that the U. S. government took $294,000,000 of British war debts off the hands of J. P. Morgan & Co. in 1918.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

AGE OLD STORY

If you were to ask the financial status of the next hundred men aged sixty-five or more, you meet, you would find, if they represent the average, that only five have independent incomes large enough to live on decently without working; that twenty-eight continue to work for a living, that sixty-seven are dependent for their livelihood upon relatives, friends or public charity.

Every one of these men started out in life with high hopes. Every one envisioned a self-sustaining, self respecting old age, in which he could retire on the savings he had made during his productive years, and enjoy himself, without worry and without dependence on any person or institution.

Five of the hundred men achieved that goal. Ninety-five failed to reach it.

Life Insurance companies have worked hard to do away with this condition and now comes "Comrade" Townsend.

COURTSHIP AND MARRIAGE

Time was his jests were funny.
Time was his weekly wage
Seemed considerable money;
But 'twas in an earlier age.

Time was his laughing shrilly
Merely added to his charm.
Now she looks on it as silly
And she views it with alarm.

Once she thought him all perfection,
Viewed by love's bright candle flame.
Now he needs so much correction.
And he'll never be the same.

Here's a truth the years uncover
Which in courtship's never guessed:
What she worships in a lover
In a husband she'll detest.

Today's Yesterdays—Jan. 14, 1639—Free planters of Connecticut Valley colony convened at Hartford to frame a constitution for civil government. It was the first popularly conceived, written constitution in America and became the core of the state constitution of today.

Jan. 14, 1741—In Connecticut colony, at Norwich, was born Benedict Arnold. He won the biggest battle of the Revolution for the colonies and he saved George Washington from being deposed as commander of the army by plotters, before he became the most celebrated traitor in American history.

Jan. 14, 1794—First "Caesarian" section in America was performed successfully by Dr. Jesse Bennett of Staunton, Va., upon his own wife after another surgeon had declined to undertake it.

For centuries "Caesarian" sections were performed only upon dead mothers—required by decree of Caesar, hence the name. You're wrong if you believe Caesar was himself a Caesarian-delivered baby.

Jan. 14, 1806—Matthew Fontaine Maury was born in Spottsylvania county, Va. He entered America's Hall of Fame as a naval officer without ever having engaged in battle! He resigned from the navy in 1861 rather than fight, and three foreign nations offered him high posts!

It's True—A horse doesn't breathe when it "bucks".

Moulai, emperor of Morocco in the early 18th century, had 2,000 wives and more than 800 children. He wasn't the champion father; a native king of Budkey, in Africa, had more than 900 children.

The most characteristic thing in Japan, the jinriksha, and most characteristic thing in Hawaii, the ukelele (to tourists, of course), didn't originate in these countries. The jinriksha is an American invention.

Bible Thought For Today

He that speaketh truth sheweth forth righteousness; but a false witness deceit.—Proverbs 12:17.

Correctly Speaking—

Verbs ending in a consonant add "es" to make the present third singular form when that form has an extra syllable; when it has no extra syllable add only "s."

Words of Wisdom

Man is only miserable so far as he thinks himself so.—Sannazaro.

Some men love their country, their state, their county and their city because if there were no country, county, state or city there would be no government, state, county or city jobs.

Eleven Killed Hunting Does

Report 17 Were Injured During Short Anterless Season

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 14—Fatalities during the recent antlerless deer season in Pennsylvania totaled 11, while 17 hunters were injured during the period, the State Game Commission announced today.

In pointing out 11 hunters lost their lives, the commissioner said fewer accidents occurred then those opposed to the antlerless season had predicted, and stated nearly all accidents were self-inflicted. The commission also called attention to the heavy concentration of hunters in the 14 counties of the state affected by the season on antlerless deer.

Eight Are Killed

Eight hunters were killed and 15 injured during the regular buck season, it was announced. The buck season was three days shorter than last year, when the same number of men were killed but 31 were injured. Only one hunter was injured during the three-day bear season.

Fatalities during the small game season increased over the previous year, 30 occurring in 1935 as compar with 20 in 1934.

The commission explained statistics are not yet available but those at hand are sufficiently comprehensive and accurate to make only minor changes necessary in the final tabulations.

The above salaries in the miscellaneous list, as well as some of the others, may be subject to changes later, after the commissioners have become more thoroughly acquainted with the situation.

No Raises Granted

There were several of the department heads who wanted raises for certain clerks in their departments, who they deemed very efficient, and one department head who asked raises for all clerks, but the county commissioners adhered strictly to the policy of eliminating all raises.

It has been the custom of the offices to pay $2 per day for extra help. After a girl has been in an office for a year at this pay, she is raised to $60 per month.

The matter of mileage allowed officials for the operation of their cars on official business was discussed at some length. In most of the offices the pay is fixed by law at 10 cents per mile. The county commissioners believe that this is too much. It is said that the state pays but six cents per mile. The commissioners seemed to think that six or seven cents a mile would be plenty. Edwin Reed, of the Welfare department, who will have considerable traveling to do, said he would be satisfied with seven cents per mile. The county detective, parole officer and others are to be called together and a uniform rate fixed.

Dr. T. E. Colley Addresses Clergy

District Superintendent Of M. E. Church Heard By Ministers Monday

Dr. T. E. Colley, new superintendent of the Grove City district, Methodist Episcopal church, was the guest speaker at Monday's meeting of the New Castle Ministerial Association in the First Presbyterian church.

His subject was "The State of the Church" and was of unusual interest to all the clergymen present.

Rev. Rees T. Williams, president of the Ministerial Association, presided during the business program and Rev. Samuel Maitland led the devotions.

Rev. Maitland extended an invitation to the ministers to attend his 34th Spiritual Birthday celebration at Epworth M. E. church Thursday afternoon at 1:30 and evening at 7:30. Dr. G. S. Bennett invited the members to attend the public charities conference in the First Presbyterian church on January 23.

Dr. Colley was introduced by the program committee chairman, Dr. C. B. Wingerd. One special guest, Rev. Galbraith, of New Jersey, was present. Benediction was made by Rev. Charles Ruggiero.

The next meeting will be on January 27. Dr. John Coleman of Geneva college, is to be the speaker.

After his address will come the entertainment.

J. W. Anderson, president of the New Castle branch of the Pennsylvania State Educational association, is to preside as the toastmaster. W. O. "Red" Williams will lead the group singing and Miss Anna Perry, principal here, will pronounce the invocation.

was the actual kidnaper and slayer of the child.

The governor is represented as believing a thirty-day reprieve would give an opportunity for the uncovering of new evidence and might possibly enable either him or Colonel Mark O. Kimberling, principal keeper of the New Jersey State prison, to persuade Hauptmann to tell all he knows of the crime.

Declares All Is Told

Hauptmann, however, persists in his statement he has told all and has nothing further to confess. He maintains his innocence and some of those who talked to him are certain he will maintain this attitude to the end.

C. Lloyd Fisher, chief counsel for the defense, refused to reveal the next move in behalf of Hauptmann. His only comment was that "the logical place for the next move would be in a courtroom."

Fisher conferred with Neil Berkinshaw and Nugent Dodds, Washington lawyers just added to the defense. Both men are experts in federal law. Although Fisher would give no indication of what transpired at the conference it was said they discussed a move for a habeas corpus writ designed ultimately to bring Hauptmann's case before the United States supreme court.

If such application is made it was considered likely it would be taken before Judge William Clark of Newark, the senior federal judge in New Jersey.

No Move In "Jafsie" Case

No move has been made by Governor Hoffman or any other New Jersey official to order Dr. Condon brought back from his South American trip. Persons close to the governor suggested "Jafsie" should come back of his own accords. Aids of Attorney General David T. Wilentz said, however, they would make no such request of Condon.

The governor was in New York City last night conferring with several witnesses brought to him by private detectives. He stated Hauptmann meant nothing to him personally, that his only object is to "see that justice is done."

Legal authorities in Trenton say Governor Hoffman would be within the law in the event he reprieved Hauptmann. He has authority to reprieve Hauptmann for ninety days but no longer. If he desired he could give Hauptmann three thirty-day reprieves, or one ninety-day reprieve.

Legislature Meets

The New Jersey state legislature meets today and it was considered quite likely the Lindbergh case and the governor's action in visiting Hauptmann's cell would come up for discussion. Some politicians are inclined to criticize Hoffman severely. Others defend his attitude.

Mrs. Anna Hauptmann, the prisoner's wife, is quartered at a Trenton Hotel and sees Hauptmann as often as prison rules will permit. She quoted her husband as saying: "Why did Jafsie go away? He knows the truth. I want to talk to him."

Col. Kimberling, principal keeper at the prison, said there is no noticeable change in Hauptmann's demeanor as his "zero hour" approaches. The occupant of cell number one in the death house is a model prisoner and does not give his guards the slightest trouble. He spends much of his time in mediation and reading the Bible.

YOUNGER CROWD HAS BIRTHDAY PARTY

Monday night a group of friends of Freddie Woods gathered in his home on Garfield avenue, to help in the celebration of his sixteenth birthday event. The party was in the form of a surprise and was given by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. E Woods. About thirty five persons participated in the festivities of the evening, and they enjoyed themselves highly.

During the evening hours, the guests engaged in various party games and the time was whiled away rapidly. Freddie received numerous beautiful and useful gifts from his many friends. Among his presents was found a guitar and a driver's license, both gifts of his parents.

A very delicious luncheon was served at an appointed hour to the guests who were seated around a very beautifully decorated table, marked with small favors and a large birthday cake as a centerpiece, with "Happy Birthday Freddie" inscribed across top of the cake.

Mrs. Woods served the lunch and was assisted by Mrs. James and Helen Fray. One out of town guest Harold Smith, of Volant, was present.

Convict Clears Up Mystery Of Death Of Girl

Dennis Derryberry, Tells Why Jean Morber Committed Suicide

DETROIT POLICE CAPTURE FUGITIVE

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Jan. 14.—Capture of an escaped convict today cleared up the mystery surrounding the suicide of Jean Morber, 19, the Butler, Pa., girl who was saved from a pauper's grave through sympathetic newspaper readers after her parents refused to claim her body.

Dennis Dewberry, 29, who had been living with the girl, said she took an overdose of sleeping powder after frequently threatening suicide. On Christmas night, he said, they visited several taverns before the girl ended her life. Shortly before she attempted to throw herself under a car, he said.

Wanted To Die

"She wanted to die because she couldn't see her son,' he said.

Parents came here from Pennsylvania to identify the body but returned home without claiming it. Her former husband said he was unable to bury it. She finally was saved from a pauper's grave when a Flint businessman donated a burial plot. Other persons came forward with funds for funeral services.

Derryberry escaped from Michigan Southern penitentiary in 1934. He will be returned to serve out his 15-year term for robbery armed.

Expect Deluge Of Appeals For Processing Tax Refund

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—A deluge of lawsuits and appeals for refunds of $1,000,000,000 in processing taxes collected under the unconstitutional AAA was awaited by the administration today.

The supreme court paved the way for the deluge when it refused to pass on constitutionality of the novel refund provision voted by Congress in the amended AAA.

Under this provision processors must prove that they did not pass the processing tax on to the consumer or take it from the producer before they can obtain refunds.

The court, in another phase of its decision, disposed of 1,500 lawsuits by holding that $200,000,000 in processing taxes, held in escrow in lower federal courts, should be returned to processors.

The refund provision, however, opens the door to almost endless litigation. It was enacted by a Congress plainly in fear of the AAA being declared unconstitutional.

The law provides that refunds will be allowed only when the commissioner of internal revenue is satisfied that the processor has not included the tax in the price of the article, or passed any part of it on to the buyer, or included any part of it in the charge or fee for processing or paid a reduced price for the article because of the tax."

Woman Testifies Against Husband

Admits "Strip Poker" Parties To Taunt Crippled Husband

HUSBAND KILLED HIS SMALL SON

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14—Unabashed by a court which had excluded women jurors because of the "tawdry testimonies," Mrs. David Ashcraft admitted she flaunted her husband's helplessness as a hopeless cripple and a consumptive by playing strip poker with male acquaintances while he looked on, unable to leave his wheel chair. He is 45.

She consented to take the stand, and testify against her husband, on trial for his life for asphyxiating his five year old son last September after defense counsel pleaded insanity and his wife's brazen strip poker parties were responsible for his act.

The testimony brought out that the wife, receiving relief, often went to the movies with another man, also on relief, and brought him and other men to her home for strip poker games.

Never Entirely Nude

"I never took everything off during these games," she testified, explaining she generally only removed her "shirtwaist and shoes and absolutely nothing else." Cross-examination brought out, however, that the male players would either be nude or almost nude, because of their losses during these games as the crippled and ailing husband watched in scorn.

Not loved by his wife—she testified she married him in 1928 only to get a home for herself and her daughter—the weak cripple showered his love on his little son. The night before he was to return to a hospital he asked his wife to allow the boy to spend the night with him. She consented. The next morning she called to get him and found him dead.

The hysterical father confessed, the police said. He held his sleeping son over an open gas burner until he was dead and then tried to kill himself. He said he could not bear to be separated from his son and have him living in his mother's surroundings.

Confesses He Killed Father

Young Man Confesses To Murder, Man First Believed Suicide Victim

(International News Service)

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Jan. 14.—Paul Tomallo, 25, today confessed the shotgun slaying of his father, John M. Tomallo, 58, which he had at first insisted was a suicide, district attorney Stephens Mayer announced.

The son's admission of patricide came after the entire Tomallo family, including the mother and three young daughters, Catherine and Anna, twins, 13, and Margaret, 11, were taken to jail for questioning.

Tomallo's body, riddled by three blast from a .12 gauge shotgun, was found in the bedroom occupied by the mother and the girls. All insisted they had heard no shots. Because of the nature of the wounds the coroner's jury rejected Paul's story of suicide.

The shotgun was found propped between the legs of the victim.

Expect Girl Will Awaken Wednesday

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Jan. 14.—With prayer-shouting co-religionisis grouped around a loudly-thumped piano awaiting tomorrow as the day of awakening, Shirley Tapp, 17, high school girl and Sunday school teacher, was ordered into seclusion today by doctors studying the strange comatose state into which she slipped during a revival meeting last Wednesday.

Fearing the girl's nervous reflexes might be injured irreparably, Dr. Martin R. Hoffman, prominent psychiatrist from the Eloise State Hospital, ordered the girl removed from a davenport in the humble Tapp home in Dearborn township to a bedroom.

Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Tapp, parents of the pretty girl, objected to Dr. Hoffman's proposal to remove her to a hospital, prompted by the religious demonstrations of a sect known as the Full Salvation Army church. The Tapps, who say Shirley's "sinful nature has been slain by the Lord," explained:

"It is the divine will she not be moved. We cannot permit it."

They agreed, however, that Shirley should be confined in a tiny, cell-like bedroom and hidden from the followers who have made the Tapp home a spiritual center.

Dr. Hoffman attributes the girl's condition to a form of hysteria resulting from religious fervor. He said:

"She is conscious, but unable to control her consciousness. She is perfectly aware of all that is going on around her, but her subconscious mind vetoes her conscious."

He expressed belief the girl will come out of her trance some time tomorrow, the seventh day which co-religionists believe was ordained by divine power as the day of awakening. He explained:

"She will wake up tomorrow because in repeated conversations all around her she has constantly heard it said it is the Lord's will that she wake on that day."

Legislators To Have Meeting

Will Seek Means Of Reducing Tax Burdens In State Municipalities

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 14.—Ten legislators, in whose hands has been placed the task of finding some means of reducing the tax burdens of Pennsylvania's 5,635 local government units were to meet and organize in a preliminary session here today.

The house-senate commission, comprised of five Democrats and five Republicans, is to conduct hearings on local government costs and report its findings to the next regular legislative session.

Sponsored by Senator Charles R. Mallery, Altoona Republican, the commission was authorized to investigate the feasibility of local government consolidation; redistribution of taxes for the relief of real estate; centralization of tax collections and general simplification of local unit systems.

Many To Participate

Local authorities from cities, boroughs, school and poor districts will participate in the hearings that are to follow today's organization of the group. The committee in addition to Mallery, includes:

Senator Henry J. Pierson, Lititz; George L. Reed, Harrisburg; Peter Graff, III, Worthington; and John S. Rice, Gettysburg, all Republicans except Rice, a Democrat. The representatives named were Samuel Weiss, Allegheny; Roy Furman, Greene; Thomas Barber, Erie; Paul C. Moomaw, Franklin, and Thomas Weidemann, Delaware, all Democrats except Weidemann, a Republican.

Aliquippa Youth Held For Murder

(International News Service)

ALIQUIPPA, Pa., Jan. 14.—Steve Marenkovich, 20, former prize fighter, was held without bond today on a charge of murder in connection with the death of his mother, Katie Marenkovich, whose body was found buried in the backyard of their home.

Marenkovich, known in the ring as Dick Moran, police say, admitted he struck and killed his mother New Year's day after a quarrel and, in terror, buried her in a shallow grave in the rear of their home.

It may not be significant, but nobody ever saw a suicide with freshly manicured toenails.

Westwood Jury At Crime Scene

Taken To Home Where Mrs. Westwood Was Slain Last July

NEIGHBORHOOD IS ALSO INSPECTED

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 14.—Up the shaky back steps and into the dingy little flat where Martha Westwood was slain one sultry morning last July, a jury of five women and seven men marched today.

The jury, which will decide whether Justice of the Peace James J. Westwood killed his home-loving wife was taken to the scene of the slaying by order of Judge William N. McNaugher.

See Crime Setting

They saw the bedroom where the victim was slain as she lay sleeping; the narrow little bed where Westwood, after returning from a gay nightclub party, threw himself sobbing across the cold body of his wife, and the open window through which the slayer was believed to have fired three bullets at Mrs. Westwood.

The jury inspected the alley where Mrs. Sophie Sehar, the commonwealth's chief witness, declares she saw Westwood fleeing a few minutes after the fatal shots rang out.

A crowd of curious gathered in the neighborhood but police drove them away and kept back the crowds.

Fletcher Attacks Stand Of Broadcasting Chains

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—"Liberty at the Crossroads", dramatized bits of historical and political events from the Republican viewpoint, will appear tonight over independent broadcasting stations after the major chains—the N. B. S. and the C. B. S.—barred such skits on their programs.

Henry P. Fletcher, chairman of the Republican national committee, charged the refusal of the two chains to allow the program to go on the air smacks either of "unwarranted censorship" or "fear" of punitive action from the federal communications commission, which controls all broadcasting.

Furthermore, the heads of the two broadcasting companies told Fletcher they would sell no political time on the air until after the June conventions.

William S. Paley, head of the Columbia chain, had rejected the Republican dramatic program, contending it would be an "emotional" rather than "intellectual" appeal to the electorate. Leo R. Lohr, chief of the N. B. C., said such presentations "would violate" his company's policies.

In letters to Paley and Lohr, Fletcher said:

"I cannot, however, free myself of the impression that the attitude you have taken is affected and perhaps involuntarily controlled by the political party in power which regulates the issuance of your licenses."

Regarding the decision of the two companies to bar political broadcasts until after the conventions, the Republican chieftains said:

"I believe your policy . . . will leave in the minds of the American public the distinct impression that you are either exercising an unwarranted degree of censorship or that you fear punitive action by the federal communications commission."

Fletcher reminded Paley and Lohr about the free time they gave to President Roosevelt's speech to Congress and his remarks to the Jackson Day dinner and said:

"I assume this was free time and the question arises, was this in the nature of a donation to a political party by the radio companies or by the corporations sponsoring programs which were displaced by the President's speeches?

"It seems to me that the services of the great radio chains should be as non-partisan and free from governmental domination as our great news services, like the A.P., U.P., I.N.S. and Universal services, and give both sides an absolutely even break."

Drinks Pint And Gets Amorous, So She Kisses Cop

New York Policeman Blushes With Shame As He Relates Incident

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Night court was crowded as Patrolman George Beedy, six feet tall and husky, stood before the bar of justice and blushed like a school girl.

"Your honor, she kissed me," he stammered, pointing to buxom Mrs. Olga Ferdena, who stood at his side. Mrs. Ferdena, 42, and the mother of three children, gazed ecstatically at the big cop as he continued:

"It happened right in front of the Allerton theater, your honor. She pinned me against a telegraph pole. I had to fight her off. And all the way down here I had to fight with her in the patrol wagon to keep her from sitting on my lap."

"Is this true?" Magistrate Burke demanded.

Her reply cost her a $2 fine.

"Sure, it's Leap Year, ain't it? First I got a little pint and then I went out and got myself a big hug."

Independence: (1) "It's nobody's business how I live." (2) "Won't you please help a poor victim of misfortune?"

Americanism: Jailing a man who buys votes with his own money; promising the voters public money if they'll vote right.

Westwood Case Jury Is Selected

Seven Men And Five Women Comprise Jury To Hear Evidence

DEFENSE FAILS TO ELIMINATE WOMEN

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 14.—Death in the electric chair!

This demand for the supreme penalty was to toll from the lips of Assistant District Attorney Chauncey Pruger today as he outlines the commonwealth's case against Justice of the Peace James J. Westwood accused of the slaying of his wife, Martha, last July 10, as she lay asleep in a second floor bedroom.

Westwood, the McKees Rocks squire, poked a gun through the window and sent three bullets into his wife's body, the commonwealth contended, after devising for himself an alibi that was "too perfect."

Jury Selected

A jury of five women and seven men was finally chosen to try Westwood after an all-day wrangle between opposing counsel. Despite the strenuous efforts of the defense to keep women out of the jury box, five were seated. The defense indicated it was anxious to avoid women because of testimony to be introduced showing Westwood was attending a roadhouse party with two "party girls" on the morning of his wife's death. All the jurors are married, a fact considered significant by attorneys in the case.

"I don't believe either side gained any advantage in the jury," William H. Coleman, chief defense counsel and a veteran of many court battles, asserted. He declined to elaborate on the apparent defense fear that women jurors might be prejudiced against Westwood's "party" alibi.

Only 12 of the panel of 106 jurors remained after the final juror was seated. Many were disqualified because they said they did not believe in capital punishment or would be unable to inflict the death penalty on purely circumstantial evidence, as much of the commonwealth testimony will be.

PROPOSE ENABLING AMENDMENTS TO CONSTITUTION

Preamble to the constitution of the United States.

Logan of Kentucky and Edward P. Costigan of Colorado propose amendments that, when adopted by the necessary three-fourths of the states, would give congress power to enact such measures as the NRA and AAA, held unconstitutional by the U. S. supreme court.

Tax Imposed On Horseshoe Hurlers

(International News Service)

LONDON, O., Jan. 14. — You are not a member in good standing of the horseshoe pitching fraternity these days unless your shoe—that is, your horseshoes—bears the official stamp designed by officers of the National Horseshoe Pitchers' association here.

Manufacturers are affixing the 1c stamp to each shoe, and no one may participate in tournaments conducted or sponsored by the association unless he uses a horseshoe made by a manufacturer who co-operates with the national group. Proceeds from stamp sales are used to further the association's work, according to R. B. Howard, its secretary.

Ohio Town Will Combat Gangsters

(International News Service)

SALEM, O., Jan. 14.—Formation of groups of vigilantes was being talked of in this tri-county district again today following a siege of crime in which bandit gangs have staged three spectacular holdups in less than two months and fled with a total loot of $81,400.

Vigilantes were organized about 10 years ago in the smaller communities of the district, and each citizen member was armed with a gun. Since then, however, many of the guns have been laid aside, and during the recent bank robbery at Columbiana, many of the weapons could not be found.

Follows Footsteps Of His Grandfather

(International News Service)

BUTLER, Pa., Jan. 14.—In 1834 Joseph Graham, the first child born in Jefferson township, became a Butler county commissioner for a three-year term.

Now, just 102 years later, Howard Graham is following in his grandfather's footsteps. Howard was recently sworn as a county commissioner.

Hauptmann Trial Will Be Criticized

Special Report To Be Presented To Executive Committee Of U. S. Bar Association

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—"Certain sensational incidents" occurring during the tral of Bruno Richard Hauptmann for the murder of the Lindbergh baby will be criticized in a special report to be presented to the executive committee of the Amrican Bar association, in session here, today.

The report, which is concerned with incidents of the trial and not its legal aspects, is the result of a study by a special committee composed of Oscar Hallam of Minneapolis, Dean Albert J. Harno of the University of Illinois, John Kirkland Clark of New York, and Charles P. Taft 11, of Cincinnati. It is understood the report contains suggestions to prevent the repetition of "certain sensational incidents" occurring during the German carpenter's trial.

Road Supervisor Studies Figuring

(International News Service)

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 14.—"Boondoggling" or not, WPA classes in at least one Ohio township may save its citizens some money.

Dr. W. W. Bartlett, a WPA field supervisor, visited one of the administration's night schools in a rural southern Ohio county where 22 adults were laboring on their "night work" in the one room school house.

In one corner set a middle-aged man, the township road supervisor, struggling to master simple arithmetic so he could keep accurate reports and accounts of his department.

Physical Handicap No Bar To Wisdom

(International News Service)

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 14.—Physical handicaps and mental ability seem to stand in inverse ratio judging from data compiled by Marlow B. Perrin, supervisor of work followed by physically handicapped students at Ohio State University.

For the 17 years that Perrin has conducted the department, few of the many handicapped students have failed in their work. Practically all have been in the upper third of their class, and several have attained Phi Beta Kappa rank. Most of them also have held down responsible jobs after graduation.

There Are Still "Honest" People

(International News Service)

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Jan. 14.—People here who remember the recent story of the modern "diogenes" who was found on the steps of the supreme court building in Washington in search of an honest man believe he should have come to Point Marion.

Two hours after Rene Frere lost his pocketbook containing $20, it was announced in the local theatre and immediately the lost article was returned by the local chief of police.

The Reason Why

Because

Father John's Medicine is not "just another cold remedy" but for 80 years a proven treatment for colds, coughs due to colds and and bronchial irritations, it is Important to Know:—

In addition, it is a body builder that aids in building sturdy resistance to the germs of colds and other infections.

Proof:—

Clinical tests by Dr. Frederic Damrau, New York, proved that it shortened the duration of colds in 93 per cent of cases.

Could anything be more convincing than these facts?

Relief Probe By Congress Will Be Undertaken Soon

Conference Of Mayors Demands Action By WPA Heads In Washington

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14. — A thorough investigation by congress into the relief-work relief situation before any emergency relief funds are appropriated was anticipated today as a result of the demands of the U. S. Conference of Mayors that $2,340,000,000 be provided for relief for the next fiscal year.

The citation of figures of work relief employment, in conflict with those issued by works relief chiefs, and the mayors' insistence that the program had not provided enough work for employables, was the basis upon which such an inquiry was expected to hinge.

The mayors, headed by Fiorello LaGuardia of New York, reported that only 3,200,000 persons had been employed. WPA Administrator Harry L. Hopkins claimed jobs had been provided for 3,541,000.

Demand Action

The mayors contended that there are yet 500,000 employables from the relief rolls who have not been given employment, and demanded that the government provide employment for at least 3,000,000, in addition to the CCC and PWA.

Hopkins included in his employment approximately 521,000 in the CCC, in addition to the PWA's comparatively small number of 12,000. PWA, however, is still providing employment for 230,000 on its old program, according to labor department reports.

When the work relief program was launched, the 3,500,000 figure for persons to be provided with jobs was based on the May relief rolls, which showed 4,100,932 families.

The first carpet mill was started in the United States by William Peter Sprague in Philadelphia in 1791.

National Grange Leaders Silent

Await Actual Information On Proposed New Farm Legislation

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Leaders of the National Grange and the National Farmers' Union, both in session here, today awaited the actual introduction of farm legislation, to replace the AAA, in Congress, before announcing definite attitudes of their organizations.

While spokesmen for both organizations approved the "platform" resolutions adopted by the congress of farm leaders called last week by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, which was in direct line with the administration's soil erosion program, they said that did not "go far enough".

A permanent program that will give more aid chiefly to the "family size" farmer was emphasized by L. J. Tabor of Columbus, O., master of the National Grange.

Dog In Distress; Freight Is Stopped

(International News Service)

CAMBRIDGE, O., Jan. 14.—What does a little thing like being "on time" mean to the crew of a freight train when there is a dog in distress?

It meant practically nothing to the crew on a Pennsylvania railroad freight headed here recently. They saw a beagle hound hanging by its hind legs from a wire fence but took it to be dead. On the return trip, however, one of the men saw it move. The train was halted immediately and the dog was rescued and adopted.

Sews Up Heart Boy Will Live

Philadelphia Boy Owes Life To Miracles Of Modern Surgery

WAS STABBED IN STREET FIGHT

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 14.—While police looked for his assailants, 18-year-old John Kane was on the road to recovery today because modern surgery enabled a hospital surgeon to sew up a half-inch stab wound in his heart and keep it beating.

Victim in a street brawl, Kane was brought to Pennsylvania hospital with blood gushing from his chest and life ebbing with each passing second. Swiftly Dr. John B. Flick removed sections of three ribs, collapsed the youth's lungs and reached the bleeding organ.

Another surgeon injected a saline substitute and a third took blood tests of the boy's two companions prior to transfusions.

Heart Stopped Beating

Internes held their breaths while Dr. Flick sewed up the gash with fine, black silk—but the operation so successfully begun almost ended in failure when the physician suddenly announced:

"His heart's stopped beating."

The surgeon grasped the "dead" heart and massaged with rythmic strokes. After torturing seconds the straining organ resumed its work.

Rapid transfusions was made while the chest cavity was closed. Kane's lungs were inflated and after a period in an oxygen tent he was given more than an even chance to live.

The boy was stabbed, witnesses told police, by a negro youth who went to the aid of a companion Kane was beating.

At the Second Baptist church in the morning, at 11 o'clock, there will be a sermon by the pastor, Rev. W. W. Nelson, and music by the junior choir; Mrs. Katherine Engs, chorister. In the evening at 7:30, another service will be conducted. Music for the afternoon and evening services will be furnished by the senior choir, Mrs. Addie Brown, chorister.

Washington County Divorces Mounting

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 14.—Married life seems to be losing its bliss with Washington county couples, judging from the way divorces are mounting.

Divorces granted during 1935 were the highest in eight years, court records showed. Falling but one short of the all-time record established in 1927, marriages of 163 couples were dissolved in the past year.

Delaware Ends Year With Balance

(International News Service)

DOVER, Del., Jan. 14.—This comparatively small neighbor state of Pennsylvania's not only paid all its bills last year, but ended 1935 with an estimated $4,000,000 balance. J. Henry Hazel, state auditor of accounts declared.

And the balance, Hazel added, is all in cold cash, although the state legislature last year granted authority to transfer $1,000,000 from the highway to the general fund, needed, the general fund was adequate for all demands, Hazel said.

NOT TOO PARTICULAR

The preacher was reading the Scripture when an elderly lady broke in: "What kind of Bible are you using, parson?"

"I'm reading from the Revised Version," he answered.

"Hm!" she said, "The King James version was good enough for St. Paul and it's good enough for me."

Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—President Roosevelt's Jackson Day speech is worth study, as an artistic piece of oratory.

There was more to it than appears at first glance.

It surprised many folk because, in comparison with his address to congress, a few days previously, it was so free from criticism of his political and economic opponents.

In his congressional talk the White House tenant mercilessly lambasted his own foes. At the Jackson Day banquet he said scarcely a word concerning them, but excoriated the interests which fought Old Hickory a century ago.

GOSSIP

Inside gossip is that the executive mansion got none too favorable a reaction to the congressional speech.

The official account is that the president received hundreds of messages, commenting on it, and that all but a handful were commendatory. It is whispered, however, that the dissenting handful was too large a handful to be ignored—that it was decidedly more than 50 per cent of the total, in fact.

Indeed, the general tenor of this correspondence seems to have been so strongly hostile to such bitter presidential condemnation of current American business methods that it was deemed indiscreet to continue it.

SEEING SELF AS JACKSON

Yet the president wanted to have his say.

Recognizing the political undesirability of saying any more of it in his own name, he hit on the expedient of saying it in Andrew Jackson's.

The implication, of course, is that he is in the same situation that President Jackson was in, in his day—that he is a second Jackson, being opposed by the same old forces that opposed his predecessor of 100 years ago.

Nevetheless, he referred to none of his 1936 opponents identifiably.

The anti-Jacksonians of the 1830's are too long dead to signify in the coming campaign. The anti-Roosevelt ians of the 1930's know that he means them, but they can't take his remarks to themselves without tacitly admitting that he is describing them.

AUDIENCE SEES IT

The presidential audience, consisting mostly of professional politicians, caught the point pretty well—not at first but after the White House speaker had been going on for a little white.

The crowd snickered at just the right places. It could see the purpose of its leader.

Franklin D. could see that it saw, too. He grinned happily.

It may take somewhat longer for the idea to soak in nationally, but there is plenty of time between now and next November 3.

WENT AWAY HUNGRY

A $50-per-plate-dinner never fell farther short of being worth $50 than that Jackson Day feed.

It was announced in advance that the dinner was a $5-dinner—that the odd $45 was to go into the Democratic campaign fund. But $5?

Postmaster General James A. Farley, who engineered the thing, received a round robin from a considerable contingent of his guests to the effect that, out of the $5 someone must be holding $3-and-six-bits out on him.

One diner told me, "I'll bet nobody ever ate a $50-dinner before, and then went out and bought a 10-cent sandwich to satisfy his appetite."

For so-called liquid refreshments, the dinner didn't even serve beer.

Plenty of the $50-contributors, after their feast was concluded, adjourned to another hotel, where the "Young Democrats" were celebrating Jackson Day at $10-per-plate, and had a heck of a good time.

Lieut. Boettner's Watch Is Found

Mrs. Louisa Fry Of West Grant St. Returns Watch Found On Street

Apparently Mrs. Louisa Fry, of West Grant street is a champion watch-finder, having found another watch yesterday which was restored quickly to the owner, Lieut. Thomas F. Boettner of the State police. Previously Mrs. Fry had found two watches, one of which was restored to the owner nine months after she found it.

The lieutenant had come here on an inspection tour. In some manner the watch fell from his wrist in front of the State police station in North Jefferson street. Mrs. Fry was walking in the sidewalk when she saw the watch lying near the curb.

She took the watch into the State police where Boettner described it and thanked Mrs. Fry profusely. She refused to accept a reward, but the lieutenant, however sent her a token of appreciation today. The watch he lost and recovered was a gift from Mrs. Boettner.

OHIO LOSES FROM EROSION OF SOIL

(International News Service)

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., Jan. 14.—Extimates furnished by the soil erosion station near Zanesville show that the greatest permanent damage to farm lands in eastern Ohio since 1900 was caused by last summer's floods, which carried away 837,000 tons of surface soil.

The counties which suffered most from the devastation include Belmont, Jefferson, Harrison, Tuscarawas, Monroe, Guernsey. The permanent loss, scientists explain, is that of fertility as from 400 to 1000 years are required to develop one inch of top soil.

My New York
By James Aswell

(Copyright, 1936, by Central Press Assn.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—In the meadows out Long Island way little bands of federal workers are puttering mysteriously. They're working, albeit with no fevered gusto, on the 1939 World's Fair, to which this hamlet seems to have fallen heir.

A slogan has already been coined: "Satisfy that life-long ambition and see New York City and the Greatest Show in the World." And? New York City is the greatest show in the world; but we won't quibble about that.

What I meant to communicate was a faint feeling of perturbation over the whole mounting hocuspocus and hullabaloo which will culminate in the circusy fireworks of 1939. Now I know the hotels, night clubs, fan-dancers and taxi-drivers (fare from Broadway to Flushing is approximately $3.90 on the clock) will greet any misgivings about the Fair with a cold and fishy eye.

But I have them, and it would not be meet in this daily confessional to hold back anything whatsoever. I think the first ice-water was pitched on my fair enthusiasm by glimpse of an old print of Atlantic City, N. J., limned in the days before the hot dogs, sunburn salve and penny roulette arrived. A quaint, dowsy village as unsophisticated as Coney Island was in 1850—where the residents, like the residents of Florida towns of the same era—were willing to admit that it occasionally rained and was briefly disagreeble climatically.

I am afraid of this fair. New York is an innocent city at heart; a little flashy now and then but on the whole pristine. I tremble to think what the fair may do to our simplicity and unspoiled naivete. By 1940, with the fair in full blast, New York may be as worldly as and tinged with the same cosmopolitan shellac a similar experience gave Chicago.

To give you an idea of New York's current innocence of manner, I can only relate what happened when I addressed a PWA worker who was sprinkling dirt in a declivity of the fair site. I asked him what sort of project was under way, for then I knew no more about it than the average passerby.

"I'm not sure," he said, "but I think we're gonna build an arena for the next Joe Louis fight."

It is also just possible that I'd be more kindly disposed toward the scheme if the site of the fair was ten or twelve miles closer to my own digs. I know they'll have me bouncing back and forth to Flushing several times daily to keep abreast of the tinsel goings-on. Union Square would get my vote as a fair site; from where I live that's an easy five-minutes' walk.

Slivers: The only jewels Ethel Merman will wear are sapphires. . . . Ben Allen, Hoover's press-agent, once drew a fat salary in the job but resigned and then recently went back to work—for no salary at all. . . . The estimated cost of that movie featuring the Dionne quintuplets will be $26,000 per quin. . . . Sistie and Buzzie Dall, the president's grandchildren, are very touchy about those nicknames; and who can blame them? . . . The Ethiopian correspondents spend their spare time arguing over who first conferred the tag, "Little Charlie" on Haile Selassie, King of Kings, and why. . . .

Who Gets Auto Confiscated In Liquor Raid?

Who gets possession of a confiscated automobile which has been taken in a liquor raid is a question that is puzzling Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard. Pritchard claims that the car should be impounded with him and upon order of court sold and the proceeds turned into the county.

The facts in the case are that an automobile confiscated by the city police in a raid on West Laurel avenue has been taken over by the Federal government. After the raid the car was held. Federal officers came in and claimed the car and it was turned over to them.

Sheriff Pritchard now cites an act of 1935 which provides that where property is confiscated in a raid of such nature, the property is held by the sheriff. Prior to 1935 all liquor cases after repeal were handled by the Federal authorities. The new act permits the state to prosecute on charges of manufacturing or transporting illegal liquor.

In the meantime Uncle Sam has the car, so what?

ITALY ADDING STRENGTH TO HER AIR FLEET

Factories Turn Out Many Planes

Air Force Has Been Practically Rebuilt In Past Year Is Report

LACK OF OIL IS ONLY HANDICAP

(Copyright, 1936, By International News Service)

ROME, Jan. 14.—With British and French naval forces in and near the Mediterranean being restrengthened this week, it was learned today that Italy has succeeded in virtually rebuilding her principal fighting arm—her air force—in the last nine months.

Since last April Italian aviation factories have turned out approximately 900 airplanes, and production is now geared to the rate of 100 more new planes every month.

If league of nations fleets steam for Italy in case a future oil embargo or other sanctions bring on a conflict, they will find themselves faced with quite different opposition in the air than they would have confronted a year ago, it was authoritatively stated.

Old Planes Replaced

According to foreign observers here, the drive to reconstitute the air force began last spring. Practically all the ageing and obsolete planes which Italy then possessed have been replaced by the most modern machines.

To date the factories have principally concentrated on construction of pursuit and fast bombing planes, but they are now devoting more time to building observation types.

Foreign expert opinion estimates that the new Italian air force is capable of stacking up favorably against any in Europe.

Some Difficulty

Meanwhile, the threat of oil sanctions has caused the greatest difficulty in training the Italian air force.

Preserving all possible gasoline because of the Ethiopian war and the danger of a Europea conflict, Italy has been able to spare but little for the students and pilots.

As much as 1000 hours' flying experience is rare among the younger Italian pilots, who are forced to conserve fuel. Some recently-qualified flyers have had as little as 250 hours in the air.

New Speed Record For U S. Flight

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Howard Hughes, youthful movie producer, established a new trans-continental airplane speed record when he landed his low-wing Northrup monoplane at Newark airport early today.

The film magnate negotiated the distance between Los Angeles and Newark in 9 hours, 27 minutes and ten seconds.

The old mark of 10 hours, 2 minutes and 57 seconds was set by Col. Roscoe Turner in a flight from Los Angeles to Floyd Bennett field during the past year.

Twenty home department quarterlies have been given out. Mrs. Margaret Schultz, one of the members, died recently, Miss Butler reported to the board.

Expenses Are Held Within The Budget

District Attorney Mont L. Ailey Makes Good Showing In Past Two Years

Ailey's expenses for two years have been $11,395.06 under the expenses of the office for the two previous years.

Two Men Die In Tenement Blaze

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—An antiquated tenement house, just off the great white way, became a death trap for two unidentified men early today.

Fire, starting on the third floor, swept through the building so rapidly that the two men, occupants of a fourth floor flat, found their escape cut off. Their bodies were burned beyond recognition.

Seventy-five families in the vicinity were forced to flee to the streets in their night-clothing.

The flames attracted hundreds of Times Square merrymakers.

No Raise In Taxes In Butler County

BUTLER, Pa., Jan. 14.—The board of county commissioners will be able to carry on this year without increasing the tax levy of eight mills, according to Chraiman Howard Graham. Neither do the commissioners expect to increase the poor levy, which is three and a half mills. Commissioners Edward R. Turner, R. O. Wood and T. Payne Nixon left the present board nearly a half million dollars in the treasury, including the general fund and the poor fund.

Sees Need For Calendar Change

Ohio Professor Cites Conference Which Will Take Place This Year

CALENDAR YEAR SAME AS 1908

WOOSTER, O., Jan. 14.—The calendar for the year 1936 will be precisely like that of the year 1908, points out Dr. B. F. Yanney, head of the mathematics department at the College of Wooster and a recognized authority on astronomy. Under the present system, any one of the seven types of leap year calendar repeats itself every 28 years within any given century.

In his annual story of the new year, Dr. Yanney writes:

"As is well-known, the only distinct feature that marks a leap year is the intercalation of an extra day in February. But this, instead of simplifying matters, only adds confusion by doubling the number of yearly calendars needed to complete the system. If we had only common year calendars the system would be bad enough. But to piece together parts of common year calendars, using February 29 as a kind of binding day, makes the system doubly worse. This state of things together with numerous other vagaries that have often been mentioned as characterizing our calendar system, seems hardly consistent with the marked improvements that have been made in other departments of civilized life.

Needs Improving

"The world is slowly awaking, however, to the necessity of a much improved system of yearly calendar, simple in its structure, easily understood, and workable. A number of countries have already definitely committed themselves to the consideration of calendar reform, if indeed they have not signified their choice of the new systems proposed. Scientific societies as well as religious organizations have likewise taken definite action looking toward hearty cooperation in remaking the calendar for world use. In the spring of 1936, the League of Nations Commission will make further attempts to get concerted action on the part of all nations, with the end in view of inaugurating a new calendar at the beginning of the year 1939.

"Further indication of world-wide interest in the matter of calendar improvement is the fact that in the Second Edition of Webster's New International Dictionary are listed, together with their appropriate explanations, these three items: "calendar reform," "Gotsworth calendar," which is the thirteen month calendar, "Swiss calendar," which is the equal quarter calendar championed by the World Calendar League.

The Seasons

"Custom has decreed that March 1 shall mark the beginning of spring, and that the beginnings of the other seasons shall follow in order at intervals of three calendar months. Astronomers, however, still cling to the dates when the sun reaches, respectively, vernal equinox, summer solstice, autumnal equinox, and winter soltice, as the beginnings of the seasons. These respective dates for the year 1936 are as follows: 1:58 p. m., March 20; 9:22 a. m., June 21; 12:26 a. m., September 23; 7:27 p. m., December 21.

"If these times are compared with the corresponding times of the year 1935, it will be noticed that there is an approximate difference of about 18 hours. This great difference is due mainly of course, to the intercalation of the extra day in February. But even if the year had been a common year there would have been differences, due to a number of causes. The solar system is a very complicated piece of mechanism on a large scale. Each body in it exerts an influence on every other body in the system. These influences vary with changing positions and motions. Hence it turns out that the length of the year varies within certain limits, as do also, therefore, intervals of time between events within the year."

OHIO POSTMEN WILL FEED BIRDS

NEW LEXINGTON, O., Jan. 14.—The postmen will add new burdens to their backs in this county in the cause of kindness to the birds.

All rural carriers have agreed to carry fifteen sacks of shelled corn each to establish feeding stations along their routes for birds suffering from a shortage of food during the cold weather.

The grain is to be doled out by the county agricultural agent, and residents are asked to notify the mailman of strategic points where the corn may be left.

'HEALTH AUDITS' URGED AT ROTARY

Physical Education Leader Hits Drift To "Soft, Flabby Life'

A nationally-known physical director, Arthur E. Bagley, New York, urged New Castle Rotarians in a luncheon address yesterday to "make an annual health audit of your physical stock" as they would an inventory of their business or a seasonal check of their motor car.

Speaking as a representative of the physical education bureau of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, Mr. Bagley, famous for his radio broadcasts, warned that in these days of labor-saving devices there is too rapid a drift toward "the soft and flabby life."

Routine exercises, proper eating and rest were included in the prescription which Mr. Bagley addressed to the clubmen in order to make them healthier and happier.

President Harold McCulloch presented Mr. Bagley, accompanied to the meeting by Clarence J. Stafford, manager of the Metropolitan office here. Today Mr. Bagley is speaking to the Sharon Kiwanis club and on Wednesday he returns to speak before the Kiwanis club here.

Likening his message to a taik on "crime prevention," the noted leader in physical education work described America's great front line of defense of a million-and-a-half health sentinels—physicians, dentists, nurses, etc.—and told of their activities to prevent illness.

The speaker spoke critically of the man who is highly efficient in everything, fussy about his motor car, his radio and other things, and yet "too busy" to stop a short while to see if he needs any "physical repairs."

The Rotarians were informed at their luncheon that February 24 has been set as a tentative date for the joint New Castle-Butler Rotarian dinner, the "pay off" of the Butler club for the victory the local club scored over it in a recent attendance contest. The Butler men had promised a dinner if they lost and so had the local men in the event they were losers.

Guests in attendance were: Thomas Caruthers, Butler; F. E. Moore, Ellwood City; Homer Anderson, Pittsburgh; John Lawther and H. L. Black, New Wilmington.

Mormon Church Missionaries Are Located Here

Representing the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints (Mormon) Myrl A. Norr of Bingham City, Utah; and Preston W. Swapp of Kanab, Utah have been located in New Castle as missionaries for the Mormon church. They are two of a group of 100 young man and women who are in the field for their church.

Mormon missionaries do not smoke, nor drink alcoholic beverages. They are sent out to preach the gospel of Jesus Christ. Both of the men sent here have been in missionary work in the east prior to coming to New Castle.

They expect to dispel many myths concerning the Mormon church. They state that plural marriages have not existed in the Mormon religion since 1890 and even when they did, only two per cent of the church practiced polygamy. Plural marriages today would call for excommunication from the church.

Says Hoffman Has No Authority To Order Jafsie Held

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—If Governor Hoffman of New Jersey authorized statements carried in newspapers which said he had ordered Dr. John F. (Jafsie) Condon arrested, he should be impeached, Rep. Blanton (D) of Texas, told the house Monday.

Brandishing copies of newspapers stating the governor had ordered "Jafsie" to be taken into custody, Blanton bitterly denounced "yellow journalism" for creating sympathy for Bruno Richard Hauptmann, convicted slayer of the Lindbergh baby.

"Hoffman has no more power to order Condon's arrest than I do," he added. "If Hoffman said any such thing he should be impeached.

"What has Condon done to call for the headlines? What crime has he been charged with? He did what he could to help the pride of America to find his child and to locate the murderer."

On Court House Hill

A pluries subpoena has been awarded in the divorce case of Dorothy Eleanor McCool against Kenneth Leroy McCool. An alias subpoena has been awarded in the case of Goldie Marie Hiland against Thomas M. Hiland.

Fifty-nine instruments of all kinds were entered at the register and recorder's office last week. Of this number 32 were deeds and seven mortgages. Bonds and commissions of newly elected officials, assignments, releases and other papers made up the balance.

Upon petition of Elmer O. Hallack the court has ordered an issue framed in which he is to be plaintiff and the County of Lawrence defendant. The case is one growing out of an appeal from the report of viewers on Hallack's property in Union township on the New Castle-New Bedford road. Similar action was taken in the case of Luigi Cardullo.

Motion for distribution was made in the case of The Weideman Company against O. C. Elliott. Following a sheriff sale the sheriff was directed to pay the proceeds into court, pending a determination as to who is entitled to the money. Judge Chambers set January 27 as the date for distribution, notice to be given to The New Castle Grocery Company, the J. J. Dean Company, D. S. Pyle and O. C. Elliott.

County commissioners have not done anything toward buying a new automobile for the sheriff, and it looks as though the sheriff is going to have to get along with his old car. Shortly before the former board left office Sheriff Pritchard presented a petition for a new car and bids were asked. The bids were turned in and tabulated, but no contract was ever awarded.

Visitors to the county commissioners office present a great many reasons why their taxes should be reduced, but it has remained for a man in the southern end of the county to present an entirely original reason, and you could guess a thousand times and not be right.

This farmer claimed that the birds have been so bad down in his section, that he cannot raise enough grain to pay his taxes. When he sows oats, the birds follow the drill and pick up the grain. When he sows wheat, it's the same way. He did manage to get some corn raised this year, but when it was into ear the birds came along, starlings, he said, and picked the ends out of nearly all the ears.

To prove it he brought along two ears, which he showed to the county commissioners. All the grains of corn were eaten off and the cobs were black. "It's that way all over my field," said the farmer. "Because of the birds I can't get enough raised to pay the taxes on the place." The county commissioners expressed regret that they could not control the birds, and as for changing the valuation, the visitor was informed that nothing could be done until the next triennial assessment.

In the case of Mary V. Aiken, use of Pearl Mayberry against James Mayberry and Pearl Mayberry, a petition was presented setting forth that when a judgment was entered, Mary V. Aiken was deceased, and letters of administration had been granted to Will L. Aiken. Leave to amend the petition was asked.

Welfare Officer Edwin Reed made his first automobile trip to Torrence hospital with a patient Saturday. He found the roads icy and dangerous in many places, so that the journey was anything but a pleasure trip.

For Quick Cough Relief, Mix This Remedy at Home
No Cooking! No Work! Real Saving!

You'll never know how quickly a bad winter cough can be relieved, until you try this famous recipe. It is used in more homes than any other cough remedy, because it gives more prompt, positive results. It's no trouble at all to mix and costs but a trifle.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. Syrup is easily made with 2 cups of sugar and one cup of water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. This gives you four times as much cough medicine for your money, and it's a much better remedy. It never spoils and tastes fine.

Instantly you feel its penetrating effect. It loosens the phlegm, helps clear the air passages, and soothes the irritated membranes. This three-fold action explains why it brings such quick relief in distressing coughs.

Pinex is a concentrated compound of Norway Pine, famous for its soothing effect on throat membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

Has Copy Of First Daily Of Country

Edenburg Man Displays Pages From Philadelphia Daily Advertiser

C. E. Jones, of Edenburg, has a badly worn copy of what is believed to have been the first daily newspaper issued in the United States, the Philadelphia Daily Advertiser, dated September 21, 1784.

History reveals that the Daily Advertiser was the first daily paper issued in this country.

The paper was handed down to Mr. Jones through his grandfather, who was J. A. Rea, of McKeesport, and it has been kept in its present state, between two pieces of glass in a picture frame as long as members of the family have any recollection.

As its name implies, it was an advertising medium, there being few stories in it. There is an account of tremendous damage done in the vicinity of Jamaica, then an important trading center, by a hurricane, which destroyed many vessels with a large loss of life.

Famous Reporter Says Eyewitnessing Execution Is Ordeal For Anybody

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 14.—Eye witnessing an electrocution is an ordeal, even to the most hard bitten reporter. It's a chilling experience calculated to do things to the nerves. The aftermath is decidedly depressing.

Bruno Richard Hauptmann — prisoner number 17400—is doomed to die next Friday night and some 18 newspapermen, a few doctors, the principal keeper of the prison and possibly several others are scheduled to witness the proceedings.

Death by electricity is perhaps as humane a way to exact the supreme penalty as any other. Even so it is a sight that forces many an eye witness to flinch.

Some Vivid Recollections

Vividly to the mind of this writer comes back recollections of incidents attending executions that were big news stories of the past. I recall the night in Sing Sing's brilliantly illuminated death chamber when Ruth Snyder came through a little door over which was the word "silence" and went to her death with these words on her lips:

"Forgive them, Father, for they know not what they do!"

To have sat close to this woman during her trial for the sash-weight murder of her husband, Albert Snyder, and then to see her go to her death in 1-142nd of a second was an ordeal.

Not only for me but for the 19 other reporters who sat in little pews in the room. Faces blanched. Hands trembled.

And then, a few minutes later, Judd Gray—Ruth's lover—came in. And he died, too. Unlike her he died calmly, resignedly . . . without protest.

Troop Out Silently

So we 20 newspapermen silently trooped out into the night to our wires in a speakeasy a block or two from the prison gates and sat down at our typewriters to do the story.

After sending his "flash" a reporter now famous as a writer for the screen walked to the bar and said: "Give me a drink of whiskey—quick; I don't know what's the matter with my nerves."

My own reaction in the death chamber as Ruth Snyder came in was different than I had surmised. Instead of being crushed, as I had anticipated, I thought only of the story. She was so changed; her blonde hair now slicked back, as if a last gesture of feminine vanity. I made notes quickly. . . . I jotted down how she was dressed in a smock. . . . Her right leg bared for the electrode. . . . Cotton stockings. . . . The agony on her face. . . .

Penmanship Quavered

Later I noticed my penmanship quavered and sprawled all over the copy paper. Nerves, perhaps.

Sing Sing's famous warden, Lewis E. Lawes, was in there that night. It is a newspaper legend that although duty called him to be present at many electrocutions he always averted his eyes when the switch was pulled.

The calmest man in the room that night was Robert Elliott, the gaunt electrocutioner, who strangely enough is the man who is assigned to pull the switch on Hauptmann.

Writing the story that night I felt all right. Two days later, however, I felt the aftermath.

The aftermath of such an experience plunges the senses into an abyss of dejection that lasts for hours. One wants to get away from oneself—but can't.

At Irene And Dague Electrocution

On another occasion when I was covering the electrocution of "Iron Irene" Schroeder and her lover, Glenn Dague, at the Pennsylvania State Prison at Bellefonte, Pa., a reporter sitting next to me on the cement bench in the death chamber fainted away just after the switch was thrown. Incidentally, Elliott was the executioner on this occasion, too.

Sometimes reporters are so shaken they are unable to quickly pull themselves together to compose their stories. Once in a while one becomes deathly sick. Occasionally you see one who takes it all quite casually but I suspect this a a pose.

The room in which Hauptmann is to be electrocuted is about 24 feet wide and 40 feet long. It has three doors and two windows. One of the doors leads to the death cells. Not far from the queer contraption known as the electric chair is an instrument panel. From this panel Elliott operates the device which sends the lethal current through the chair's mechanism.

Directly above the chair are two lights suspended on an inverted tripid and so located they light up the death chair and the condemned person in it.

The walls of New Jersey's death chamber are in white. The chair is of oak. The flooring is of oak, with a rubber mat extending along part of the room and under the chair.

The door through which Hauptmann will come—if he is executed—is of iron and is painted a cream color. Executioner Elliott will stand at the panel so close to him he can almost touch the condemned man.

How Hauptmann will "take it" is a matter of much conjecture as the time for the electrocution draws near.

This International News Service correspondent recalls that when, on February 14 last, the day after Hauptmann's conviction, he talked to the prisoner in his cell at Flemington for 40 minutes, Hauptmann said:

"If I have to die, I will die like a man."

Jury Deadlocked In Third Trial Of Case

Double Indemnity Clause Of Insurance Policy Is Stumbling Block

BUTLER, Pa., Jan. 14.—Out nearly two days, the jury in the case of Mrs. Freda L. Marlowe, of Butler, against the Traveler's Insurance Company, of Hartford, Conn., reported to Judge John H. Wilson today that it was deadlocked and was discharged. The jury stood at six to six.

Mrs. Marlowe was seeking to recover $4,000, with interest, since January 26, 1930, on a life insurance policy carried by her husband, Albert H. Marlowe, who died from a gunshot wound in the forehead nearly six years ago.

The policy, which had been in force five years at the time of Marlowe's death, carried a double indemnity clause, providing for the payment of $4,000 in addition to a like sum in the event the insured's death resulted from an accident.

The widow claimed the death was accidental but the insurance company was not satisfied and refused to pay. This was the third time the case has been tried, the supreme court ordering new trials.

Girl Reserves Name Officers

Last night the Senior Girl Reserves met for their final meeting, which after the election of officers took the form of a farewell to the graduating Girl Reserves.

Following a great deal of excitement the following officers were elected for the spring semester: Peggy England, president; Geraldine Getty, vice president; secretary, Janet Hartland; Ruth Shannon, treasurer.

The officers will meet with their chief adviser, Miss Geraldine Turk in the immediate future to appoint the committees. The officers and committees will form a cabinet that meets once a month to take care of administration.

After the meeting the girls adjourned to the gym for games and later refreshments were served by a social committee.

There will be no meeting next week on account of examinations and no meeting Monday, January 27 because of a dance on Thursday, January 30. The next Girl Reserve meeting will be February 3.

AROUND CITY HALL

Council has authorized Joseph D. Alexander, department of property and parks, to request the Carnegie-Illinois Steel company for the use of the building termed during council session as the "wire and nail" building. The city would like to acquire the building for storage purposes, it having been said by officials that there now is not sufficient room to house motor equipment. If the building is taken over probabilities are the city will exempt the company of paying taxes on the building.

Some months ago a member of the street department was injured while on duty. He was treated by a local physician who naturally, presented a bill for his service. It in turn was turned over to the city. The old council authorized its payment but Controller Earl Wimer opposed its payment, on the ground that the city carried compensation insurance on the workman and the insurance company should pay the doctor's fees. Wimer informally took up the matter with compensation board officials and it has been reported to council that the insurance company has paid the bill, bearing out Wimer's contention.

Relative to the audit under way in the city treasurer's office it may be several weeks before it can be completed. The controller, Earl Wimer, is supervising the audit which was requested by Louis McClung and also his successor, C. C. McKibben.

Measure restoring 10 per cent to the wages of city employes is yet in committee. When the measure was introduced by the former council it was sent to that body for further consideration.

Police automobiles and motorcycle travelled 93,607 miles last year according to statistics released today by the police department. The cruisers travelled as follows: No. 1, 34,608 miles and Cruiser No. 2, 35,548 miles. The cruiser used by detectives operated 10,705 miles. The patrol was driven 5,604 miles and the motorcycle travelled 7,142 miles. An effort may be made to trade in Cruisers 1 and 2 with a small cash payment to "boot' for two new cars. The cruisers 1 and 2 are the cars that each night patrol almost every street and avenue in the outlaying district. Previously it was seldom that a policeman patrolled distant sections. The cruiser system now provides protection for such sections.

The finger-print department at the police station has been established slightly more than three years. There are on file about 1,775 fingerprint descriptions of various persons. Of this number the local department took almost 1,000. Photographs of the latter were also taken. In the exchange of fingerprints and photographs one slayer was caught here and through fingerprints other cases were solved.

Probabilities are the commissioners of Lawrence county and council of the city will meet soon and determine whether they will join in a proposition whereby one sealer of weights and inspector of measures will work for both city and county. During the past four years each political sub-division has employed an inspector.

Two Are Held In Crash At Butler

BUTLER, Pa., Jan. 14.—Two men suffered injuries and two were arrested after an automobile accident today. The injured are Albert Bortz of Harmony R. D. 1, and George Geiger, Pittsburgh.

Officers held George Thieroff, Jr., of Pittsburgh, on reckless driving charges and his father, George Theiroff, Sr., for disorderly conduct after an argument with a highway patrolman.

Police said Geiger's car struck a machine driven by Roy Miller of Youngstown, O.

McGUFFEY MAYOR GLAD TO RETIRE

(International News Service)

McGUFFEY, O., Jan. 14.—There is at least one retiring politician who is glad of it. He is Godfrey Ott, outgoing mayor of McGuffey, center of the world's largest onion growing district which has been in periodic turmoil during the past three years as onion workers' strikes flared spasmodically.

It was too strenuous a job for Ott, whose office in a filling station was frequently thronged with feature writers from the newspapers, strikers, operators, national guardsmen, conciliators and a stream of curious visitors.

With a sigh of relief he turned over his duties to his successor, James Beltz, wishing him a more tranquil term and expressing a wish that "now I may get some business done."

PIGEON, BORN ON BATTLEFIELD, DIES

(International News Service)

DAYTON, O., Jan. 14.—"John Sliver," last of the World War carrier pigeons, and named for the villian of Stevenson's "Treasure Island," because he too was one-legged, is dead after an adventurous career. He will be stuffed and mounted for the aeronautical museum at Wright Field, Dayton.

"John" was a real "war baby," for he was hatched in France in Jan. 1918 and saw service a few months later. While flying through a barrage, sharpnel cut off one leg, but he carried the message through. Nursed back to health, he was retired in 1921 and was later sent to Hawaii where he lived out his span in peace.

Harbors-Rivers Appropriations Recommended

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Secretary of War Dern Monday sent to congress the annual report of Maj. Gen. Edward M. Markham, army chief of engineers, recommending the expenditure of approximately $250,000,000 for the improvement of rivers and harbors throughout the country during the 1937 fiscal year.

This sum, which General Markham said could be "profitably expended," during the 1937 fiscal year on a vast rivers and harbors program, exceeded by approximately $100,000,000 the amount recommended last year.

The largest single expenditure recommended by General Markham was $57,089,000 for improvement of the Mississippi river between the Missouri river and Minneapolis. Other expenditures recommended included $620,000 for operation and care of locks and dams on the Monongahela river, Pennsylvania and West Virginia, and $216,000 for operation and care of locks and dams of the Allegheny river.

He Was Versatile In Spelling Name

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 14.—Astonished orphans' court clerks furrowed their brows when they found the last will of Meyer Delinsky contained 21 different ways of spelling his name, all of which he used at one time or another to sign checks.

But the various spellings didn't constitute fraud, his widow explained. Delinsky was unable to read or write English.

The will was listed officially as that of "Delinsky, Meyer (also known as Mayer Delinsky, Mao Delinsky, Mayor Dalinsky, Meyer Dalinsky, Myer Dalinsky, Mayne Dolinsky, Max Dolinsky, Meyer Dalinsky, Mayo Dolinsky, Mahr Dolinsky, Maya Dolinsky, Mayor Ulinsky, Max Dulinski, Mayo Marinski, Mayar Dorinsky, Max Dolinske, Mayar Dormsky, Mayar Dorimsky, in his last will and testament spelled Meyer Dolinsky)—Dora Dolinsky, executrix."

Incidentally, Delinsky, et. al., left an estate valued at $517,000.

Ellwood Hi Plays Butler Tonight

Ellwood Wolverines Hope To Hit Winning Stride Again At Lincoln Gym

RESERVE GAME TO BEGIN AT 7 O'CLOCK

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 14.—A determined Butler high basketball team is invading Lincoln gym here tonight, to break its losing streak at the expense of the Ellwood City High Wolverines.

The soapminer quintet coached by Regis Heinzer hopes to get out of its lethargy of two consecutive defeats and turn the tide this evening. On the other hand the Schill-Newton coached combination is resolved to bring up its record with a victory. To date they have two losses and one victory. Ellwood lost to Aliquippa and New Castle and won from Beaver Falls. Butler lost a heart breaker to New Brighton high and was defeated by Ambridge.

The dope points to a blue and white victory tonight but they will have to be up on their toes and play heads-up basketball. Webster is the man that will have to be stopped if the Wolverines are to realize their aim. In way the star Butler guard is a one man team. He is an exceedingly dangerous shot—shooting from any place on the court and from any position. Against Ambridge last Friday he rolled up 17 points and dust fell short of pulling his team through.

The locals are in fine shape for the affray tonight and will have their entire squad available for action. A long session was held yesterday to devise a defense for Webster and his team mates.

A preliminary game between the Ellwood High Reserves and Butler Reserves will be played at 7 o'clock. The varsity game is scheduled for about 8:15.

Ellwood Man Originates Plan

"Lose A Hook And Spare A Bass" Urges C. A. French, Of Ellwood City

(Special To The News)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 14.—The Fish Commission's new slogan, "Lose a Hook and Spare a Bass," originated by Commissioner Charles A. French of Ellwood City, was tested last year and found to be amazingly successful in saving these game fish, it was announced today by the Fish Commission.

It was contended that, in the event of a bass below legal size swallowing a hook, the fish might be saved by not attempting to extract the barb, but instead cutting the snell and permitting it to remain in the bass. Action of acid in the stomach of the fish, Commissioner French found, would result eventually in dissolving the metal hook.

Early last autumn, seventeen bass served in the experiment. When it was found that one of the fish was hooked but slightly in the cartilage of the mouth, the hook was removed. A number of them, however, swallowed the hook, and in each instance of this kind, the snell was cut and it was permitted to remain in the stomach of the fish.

Not one of these fish has died since the experiment, and, believe it or not, the bass that swallowed hooks were as lively following the experiment as their fellows from which the hook had been removed with slight if any injury.

Widespread adoption of this method of handling hooked fish by anglers will result in real conservation of the supply of bass now in Pennsylvania waters, the Commission says.

First Baptists And Epworths In Leadership Tie

Sacred Hearts Knocking At Door In Church AA League At "Y"

PRESBYTERIANS OUT IN FRONT

There are some merry battles taking place in the New Castle Church basketball leagues AA and A this year at the "Y", according to figures released by Delbert Jackson the league statistician today. The First Baptists and Epworth teams are tied for first place in the AA group, and the First Presbyterians lead the A league.

The Sacred Hearts are knocking on the door in the AA league one game behind the league leaders. The Central Christians also have a chance to cop the first half title. There is little liklihood of St. Michaels, St. Nicholas, First Christians or Tifereth Israel catching up to the league leaders by the time the first half of the league ends.

Presbyterians Lead

In the Church A league the First Presbyterians rule with six victories and one defeat, while the St. Pauls and First M. E. are in the runner-up position with five victories and two defeats apiece.

According to Mr. Jackson there is considerable interest in the league this year judging from the fine crowds that have witnessed most of the games this year.

Following is the standings of both leagues including games played Monday night January 13.

Church AA League

Eddie Cool Wins Nod Over Zivic

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 14. — Two battling knights of the fistic fraternity nursed badly battered bodies today, both claiming victory after one of the most hectic slug-fests ever witnessed by a Pittsburgh audience.

But it was Eddie Cool, the Philadelphia junior welterweight, who received the official nod over his steaming hot opponent, Fritzie Zivic, Pa Pitt's pride and joy, after 10 rounds of nip-and-tuck heaving-to which ended with a close and split decision.

Fritzie weighed 139½ while Cool weighed 138.

Those awful Germans are still ganging up to persecute Jews, while we merely tar and feather those we dislike.

Eddie Cool of Philadelphia was awarded a decision over Fritzie Zivic of Pittsburgh in a fast 10 round bout at Pittsburgh last night. The award was not unanimous. One judge decided the fight was a draw and the other believed Cool had won. This made it necessary for Referee Al Graybar to give his verdict and the fight was decided in favor of the Philadelphian.

Dr. Marvin H. Stevens, head football coach at New York U for the past two years was reappointed yesterday for a period of five years. The contract, longest ever given out by New York U came as the result of the 1935 team winning seven games and losing only two.

Tom McMahon, former heavyweight boxer, is yet in the New Castle hospital from blood poisoning.

Annual Junior Class Amateur boxing championships of the A. M. A. division of the A. A. U. will be held at the Metropolitan club, Pittsburgh, January 30, 31 and February 1.

Promoter Lou Daro, Los Angeles, has offered Maxie Baer, former heavyweight champion of boxers a contract calling for a fat sum if he will turn wrestler.

Five Games On State's Calendar

Nittany Lions Will Clash With Syracuse Wednesday Night

STATE COLLEGE, Jan. 14.—After two hard games on the road with Penn and Navy, Penn State's basketball team will stay on the home court for five straight contests. This week's program includes encounters with the fast moving Syracuse quintet on Wednesday night and a Conference game with Pittsburgh on Saturday.

Although at the start of the present season, Penn State's first year in the Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball Conference, the outlook for a successful campaign was far from encouraging, the Nittany Lion five has taken on new fire of late and has given its adherents cause for much encouragement.

The Lion victory over Penn last Wednesday was the first Quaker defeat at the hands of Penn State since 1923, and only the sixth time in a twenty-five game series that State has emerged victorious. Since 1923 the Quakers had won ten straight contests. Lion victories were few and far between, occurring in the early games of the series, 1901, 1902, and 1905, and then in 1921 and 1923.

To Meet Bucknell

After the Syracuse and Pitt engagements, Penn State will oppose Bucknell, Carnegie Tech and West Virginia on the home floor before traveling again to meet Temple and Army. All of the future games are real tests with no letup through the final encounters with Tech and Pittsburgh in Pittsburgh March 6 and 7.

Early in the season when the veterans on the Lion varsity were playing raggedly, it was apparent that a group of hard fighting sophomores would monopolize most of the regular berths. However, of late the upperclass regulars have come to the front and regained their lost ground. Sol Miehoff and Joe Proksa, sophomore forward and guard, are two members of the underclass group who are continuing to press the regulars hard for first string positions.

MAY HOLD TRACK MEETING AT NIGHT

(International News Service)

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 14.—If funds for installation of flood lights can be found, the Big Ten Conference track meet here May 22 and May 23, may be held at night for the first time in the history of the organization.

Ohio State's track coach, Larry Snyder, said the plan had been discused at the winter meeting of the Big Ten coaches and all of them thought the idea a good one, leaving the final decision up to him.

One explanation of young criminals is that nobody will support them in the style in which they were raised.

Maxie Baer To Turn Wrestler

Former Boxing Champion Will Seek Title Of Heavyweight Wrestler

By ED LABOWITCH
International News Service Sports Writer

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 14—"I'm the best wrestler in the world. In fact I am going to be a better wrestler than I was ever a prize fighter."

And there you have "roundsie woundsie playsie waysie Maxie Baersie.

Instead of trying to regain his world's heavyweight boxing title, Little Maxie will reign as heavyweight wrestling champion, he modestly admitted.

To the press it was announced Maxie was "considering" entering the wrestling game, providing Ancil Hoffman, manager of the forgotten champ, would approve the transaction..

Guaranteed Big Sum

The transaction, to be explicit, was authorized by Lou Daro, Los Angeles wrestling impressario, who offered Maxie $25,000 to grapple under his banner.

According to Maxie, he will have to take it up with Ancil, but according to Lou, it is all taken care of and Max is as good as in the bag.

Hank Bath Will Be Given Bout

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—Hank Bath, the gift of Colorado and Jack Kearns to the fight industry but who was turned down as 'damaged in transit' by the New York Athletic commission, is in good standing with the Illinois commission and will fight here Jan. 24th.

Bath has been matched for a 10 round match with Billy Treest in a continuation of the elmination tournament to find stoges for Joe Louis, despite the refusal of the New York commision to grant him a license to fight Red Burman, Jack Dempsey's protege.

Church League Games Wednesday

Three games will be played in the New Castle Church AA floor league at the "Y" Wednesday night, with the first game starting at 8 o'clock.

Yvon Robert

Entering the ring unannounced, Yvon Robert, above, amazed a crowd at Holyoke, Mass., by throwing Danno O'Mahoney, world champion wrestler, and then knocking him for a row of ringside seats. O'Mahoney had just finished a match when the surprise visitor, seated at the ringside wearing an overcoat that hid his ring costume, leaped into the ring and seized the champ.

Lawson Little Given Warning

British And American Amateur Champion Is Warned By U. S. Golf Head

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 14.—Lawson Little, British and United States amateur champion, expressed surprise today that John G. Jackson, the new president of the United States Golf Association, should warn him about his amateur status in connection with the conducting of a syndicated newspaper column.

Jackson was reported to have said Little had come dangerously near going over the borderline of amateurism by giving golf instruction in his articles.

"I was surprised," Little said, "but naturally I will abide by the rules of the golf association. It is my belief I did not endanger my amateur status, but I'll do what the officers of the association say. Mr. Jackson and the other officials are good friends of mine. I have high regard for them all. I expect that shortly I will receive a note or letter from them about the matter.

'I will of course write my newspaper articles along the lines they say, but right now it's all a mystery to me as to what rules supposedly were infringed upon in my articles,' Little said.

Teddy Yarosz Wants His Pay

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 14.—Take it from unlucky Ted Yarosz, the local boxer who made good, it's fight, fight all the time. For today he's still fighting for the balance of $5,000 owed him for his fight with Babe Risko here last September.

The bond of $5,000 posted by sportsmen's enterprises, which promoted the clash, expires today, according to A. M. Oliver, counsel for Ray Foutts, Teddy's manager, who said:

"We are willing to do anything within reason, but we are going to do nothing that will jeopardize the financial interests of Foutts or Yarosz."

New Castle Hi At Aliquippa

Toughest Floor Game Of Year Awaits New Castle Boys Tonight

If New Castle high school "Red Hurricane" basketball team gets over the Aliquippa high hurdle in its path tonight, the Section Three toga will be one step nearer realization. New Castle has won eight straight games this year. Will the streak be stopped tonight?

New Castle always has a tough time at the Aliquippa high floor. Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh has just about exhausted his patience with the "jinx" that hovers over the Aliquippa high floor. He is earnestly hoping that this 1935-36 team will relieve the situation by smashing the "jinx" to smithereens.

Fast Lineup

With Dal Mumford and Johnnie Carik taking care of the forwards, New Castle will have two speedy scoring aces ready to throw against Aliquippa. Emil Grommes will take care of the jump-post and has given a good account of himself in the late games. Harry "Kaiser" Toscano, nearing the end of his scholastic career, will hold down one guard job and Covelli will probably start at the other guard.

Robinson, Vest and Baer seem to be the best bets in the "Quippian" lineup. Beaver Falls defeated Aliquippa last week 35 to 28 at Beaver Falls.

The Lippemen never lose very many games on the home court. Aliquippa defeated Ellwood City 39 to 25 in the opening game of the year. This game was played at Aliquippa.

Faculty Manager Ralph Gardner will head the New Castle floor party leaving here at 5:30 o'clock this evening by bus for the scene of the battle.

Leo Hill High In Rifle Shoot

Leo Hill was high man with 192 out of a possible 200 in the semi-weekly shoot of the New Castle Rifle Club held at the Cathedral range Monday night. Second high was held by J. Moore with 190, and third was held by Houck with 188.

Friday night at the Cathedral range the New Castle Rifle Club will stage a shoot with the Nonpariel Rifle Club.

The results of the shoot last night—Leo Hill 192, J. Moore, 190, Houck 188, Dean 186, Pugh 183, Giddings 183, Ruby Moore 181, H. Reynolds 180, Shipler 178, Cramer 178, Joe George 111, Bill Casto 110, George Gaily 109, Bob Hamilton 197, Roy Casto 104.

DeHARTS WANT GAMES

The DeHarts basketball team would like to book games with all first class basketball teams in this city and in Lawrence County. Teams such as St. Michaels, Sacred Hearts, Portersville, Mt. Jackson, and others are asked to get in touch with Vaughn Fitzhugh the business manager by calling 2159-M, between 5 and 7 o'clock, any evening.

Lincolns Trim Marcellas, 22-12

Flashing an uncanny attack, the Lincoln Tigers annexed victory No. 3 on Monday night on the Lincoln-Garfield floor, defeating the Marcellas. The final score, 22-12.

William Bullano and Nick Gennock were outstanding for the winners. Tonight the South Siders will play the K. Pulaski at the Pulaski floor.

Grove City And Allegheny Will Battle Tonight

Coach Bob Thorn Has Grovers Set For Game With Methodists

GROVE CITY, Jan. 14.—The oldest basketball rivalry among the smaller colleges of this district will be revived tonight when Allegheny and Grove City meet on the local court. The first basketball game played by a Grove City College team was with Allegheny in 1898, when the locals lost, 32 to 9, and the schools have been playing, with infrequent lapses, ever since.

Records attest the close rivalry and even breaks in victory. In the last ten years, the teams met in 18 games; Grove City won 10 and Allegheny, 8. Annually, since the season of 1928-29, except for 1932-33 when no games were played, each club has wone one of the home-and-home series each season.

Comparative scores make Grove City the favorite in Tuesday's game here, but point to a close game. Veterans are scarce on each squad, but Bob Thorn's Crimson freshmen made a better showing against Youngstown, a common opponent, than was turned in by Coach Lawrence's Alligator squad. Regardless of the dope, however, a Grove City-Allegheny game seldom follows the forecasts.

Pleased with the work of the first year men in the opening game, but listing many flaws, Coach Thorn scheduled a short but intensive drill on defense tonight. The Grover freshmen and sophomores were fooled frequently by Youngstown, but Thorn believes that practice and experience will correct the most glaring errors.

BOYS' LEAGUE TO MEET

A meeting of the managers of the various boys basketball teams will be held at the "Y" this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, according to an announcement by Henry MacNicholas. Names of all players and one-half of the fee must be turned in today.

Nonpariel Rifle Shooters Nearly Set World Mark

Total For Five-Men Only Two Points From World's Official Record

MOORE AND DAVIS SHOOT BRILLIANTLY

New Castle almost had a world's championship rifle mark, in fact it was just two points off, and the Nonpariel Rifle club members are still talking about the recent shoot in which the five-high men shot a total of 966 points or just two points from the official established world mark for a five-man team of 968. The authenticy of this report comes from Karl Rohrer.

Jesse Moore was the high man in the shoot with the brilliant score of 196, followed very closely by Rod Davis with another brilliant string of 195, while Karl Rohrer had a fine score of 192, followed by Chappie Eckles with 192, and by Leo Hill with 191.

The remainder of the scores for the match were as follows: Barber 188, Harmer 187, Curtis 186, Lindsey 185, Walsh 179, Pollard 177, Shaw 174, Beckwith 170, Kauffman 149.

The Nonpariel club members are very proud of the achievement of the five-high men in the recent shoot, and they have just cause to be chesty, because you don't get rifle scores like that every day.

The Nonpariel club will have another shoot tonight at the range in the West Side garage at 7:30 o'clock to prepare for the special match shoot with the New Castle Rifle club, on Friday night.

Retzlaff-Louis To Meet Friday

Joe Louis Is Reported Sluggish And Stale For Bout With Dakota Farmer

By BILL COLLINS
International News Service Sports Writer

CHICAGO, Jan. 14—Only the memory of the Braddock-Baer affair and the possibility of its happening all over again keeps the general public from laughing aloud at published assertions Joe Louis is sluggish, is indulging in indifferent workouts, is stale, and may very possibly be licked by Farmer Charles Retzlaff when they meet in a bout scheduled to last 15 rounds here Friday night.

There is a faint suspicion these assertions are backed by the promoters' public relation department, with the intent and purpose of luring customers to the box office where some $35,000 is already in the till and room is being prepared to handle another $65,000.

Retzlaff Confident

To date only former Governor William Langer of North Dakota, where Farmer Retzlaff farms, Retzlaff and Mrs. Retzlaff have predicted Retzlaff will win. And the cautious are wont to remember that the situation was much the same the night Stevedore Braddock took the heavyweight crown away from playboy Baer.

Yesterday Retzlaff looped his right to a sparmate's chin and the sparmate looped to the canvas for the edification of the ringworms. That right which starts 'way back there and goes 'round 'round and comes out on the opponent's jaw Retzlaff hopes, is about all the North Dakotan has in the way of fighting equipment. But that right has more kick than one of his plow horses.

CLARE WALLACE INJURED

Clare "Donkey" Wallace, the star center of the First Baptist church basketball team, will be lost to the team for the remainder of the season, it is believed, following a badly dislocated knee in the recent Baptist-St. Nicholas game. Wallace will be missed by his mates, as he was a most dependable performer.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Along Broadway today we hear....The Rangers' famous front line—Bun Cook, Frank Boucher and Bill Cook—will be broken up....After setting an all-time hockey record by playing ten units as a unit——And scoring almost 1100 points.

Bill Cook's 40 years have finally caught up with his legs....and hereafter he'll be a defense man.... But will be in a new forward line with Cecil Dillon and Lynn Patrick and Bouncher will play center between Brydson and Keeling.

Only Toronto's great trio—Conacher, Jackson and Primeau,—Now playing their seventh season together, have a chance to equal the Rangers' record.

The date for the party will be announced shortly, but it is not expected to take place until week after next.

It was not immediately known whether there was any loss of life. The vessel was expected to become a total loss.

Yanks Seeking Luke Appling

Yankees Would Also Like To Get Hale, Higgins And Myer For Infield

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—In lieu of all the very fine ball players they've apparently decided not to hire, the multi-million dollar New York Yankees are giving a beefsteak dinner to the press at Jack Dempsey's tomorrow night, which sounds as though even the Yankees know how bad they are. When they were good, it never was necessary to consort with the press on even terms. All they had to do was set out the bottle—and let nature have its head.

Besides, I'm pretty sure that Mr. E. G. Barrow, who makes all decisions, doesn't like beefsteak.

Seek Appling

Perhaps, though, it's all leading up to a very arresting announcement, like those that have been unofficially vouchsafed in the newspapers from time to time. The local press is quite impulsive in its desire to be of aid and, by turns, have "bought" Buddy Myer from Senators; "Bad News" Hale from Cleveland, and Frank Higgins from Philadelphia.

Oddly, one of those they overlooked was a man that was mentioned inside the business office, namely, Luke Appling, of the White Sox. The idea was to obtain Higgins from Philadelphia and use him in a trade for Appling, although it does sound a little comical to ask for a ranking shortstop without giving another in return. Personally, I'd suggest that, if they're going to give the White Sox anything in a deal like that, it had better be an anaesthetic.

Anyhow, the time is geting close when the Yankees will either have to announce something that will make them finish better than fourth or tacitly admit that the only thing they're going to buy this year is a beefsteak dinner.

Mussolini's Son Has Close Call

Shell Explodes In Plane, But He Manages To Land Safely

(International News Service)

ROME, Jan. 14.—Vittorio Mussolini, son of the premier, has now joined brother Bruno and brother-in-law Count Ciano in the list of Italian airmen who came close to death on the northern Ethiopian front, according to an Asmara dispatch in Il Tevere today.

The story said a shell burst through the cabin door of Vittorio's plane while he was reconnoitering near Mt. Aradam, exploded in the cockpit, and smashed the machine gun and instrument board.

The young flyer, however, was uninjured and succeeded in landing safely behind the Italian lines, although only with the greatest difficulty.

Both Bruno and Count Ciano had earlier returned from scouting and bombing flights with bullet holes in their planes.

Seek To Halt Blister Rust

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 14.—Control measures to halt the spread of white pine blister rust in the state will become effective tomorrow, Thomas C. Buchanan, secretary of the Department of Forests and Waters, announced today.

Preventing measures will be carried on in two blister rust areas recently designated by the department. Secretary Buchanan said first measures would apply only to persons who had currant or gooseberry bushes within approximately 900 feet of a stand of white pine, or 1500 feet in the case of European black currant.

Motors, Oils And Rails Set Pace In Moderately Active Market

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Motors, oils and rails set the pace in a strong and moderately active market today in which a number of highs for 1935-36 were established.

A feature of the trading was the turnover of a number of large sized blocks of stock, including 10,900 Remington Rand, 10,000 Socony Vacuum and 10,000 Wilson & Co.

With the dollar turning steady, the mild amount of European selling of American securities noted last week has apparently dried up and instead some new foreign buying is developing, particularly in the rails.

The excellent earnings statement of Wilson & Co. released yesterday continued to give the packing issues a buoyant tone with both Armour and Wilson entering new high ground.

The spread of crude oil price boosts to the east stimulated new activity in the oil shares, with Consolidated Oil, Texas Corp., Standard of California and Pure Oil all making new highs.

Southern Pacific and Union Pacific set new high marks in the rails. Chrysler, which has been quiescent for some days, returned to activity in the motor list with a rise of a point and a half.

I. T. & T., one of yesterday's most active stocks, extended its advance into new high ground today. New highs also were made by Liggett & Myers and South Porto Rico Sugar.

Congress Will Probe Reported Death Of Workers

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—A congressional investigation into the death of several hundred workers employed on a power project at Gauleybridge, W. Va., was ordered today by the house labor committee.

A resolution directing the inquiry was introduced yesterday by Rep. Marcantonio (R) New York.

The latter said the workers died after breathing dust from silica rock. More than 100 bodies were dumped into a common pit in a nearby cornfield, Marcantonio added.

Hearings are scheduled for Thursday before a subcommittee consisting of Reps. Criswold of Illinois; Dunn of Pennsylvania, and Randolph, of West Virginia, Democrats, and Lambertson, Republican of Kansas and Marcantonio.

Marcantonio planned to bring a number of the workers from that region to the capitol to testify.

Two Are Buried By Avalanche

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

GARMISCH, Germany, Jan. 14.—One German-American was killed and another, a New York girl, was missing and believed dead in an avalanche which buried them as they were skiing in the Bavarian Alps near Schneeferner today.

Rescue parties rushing to the scene found the body of the dead man, a Dr. Steinbach, who carried an American passport and had been registered at the Schneeferner hotel as from Zurich.

The missing girl was a Miss Schwabin, born in Cologne, Germany, but now a resident of New York. She arrived at Schneeferner a week ago to indulge in winter sports.

A third skiier, a man named Von Horn, buried with them, succeeded in extricating himself.

Trucker's Request Is Heard Before Public Service Commission At Pittsburgh

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 14—Fred E. Jones, New Castle trucker, petitioned the Public Service Commission here today for permission to operate motor vehicles as a common carrier to transport milk and farm products from Union, Neshannock, Pulaski, and Wilmington townships, Lawrence county and Wilmington township, Mercer county, to points in and near Rochester, Ambridge and Pittsburgh.

Represented by Clarence A. Patterson and Robert L. Wallace, New Castle attorneys, Luther M. Reno, of Shenango township lodged a protest to the petition claiming that he was Jones' former employer and that he still operated the routes Jones seeks.

Examiner William Best presided at the hearing.

Boston Killer Dies In Chair

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Jan. 14.—The warden nodded . . . the gnarled, old hand threw the switch.

One-two-three-four-five . . . five dead, only three to go.

Fifth to fall prey to the chair in executioner Robert Elliott's current tour of duty—eight men in eight days—was Miller Frank Clark, 44, convicted killer of 15-year-old Ethel Zuckerman, whom he slew with a bread knife.

Four youthful hold-up killers were jolted into eternity by Elliott at Sing Sing last week. Clark today, Albert Fish and John Smith at Sing Sing Thursday, Bruno Richard Hauptmann at Trenton on Friday, and the round of death is over.

Woman Battles Against Death

Mrs. Gertrude Lewis Mattern, 63, Critically Injured In Auto Crackup

HUSBAND-WOMAN COMPANION KILLED

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Mrs. Gertrude Lewis Mattern, 63, critically injured in an automobile accident in which her husband, Edwin L. Mattern, 66, author and retired lawyer, and Katherine Grace Snyder, 50, were instantly killed, is battling for her life today in a local hospital.

The Matterns are residents of Washington, Pittsburgh, and Erie, Pa., while Miss Snyder, a second cousin of Mattern, lived in New York.

The Mattern car was rammed amidship by a Peninsula Lines bus on the Crain highway, near Marlboro, Md. The accident happened at an intersection of two main roads. Claude W. Blythe, 32, of Franklin, Va., driver of the bus, said he did not see the Mattern car until it was 25 feet from him. Blythe was released on $1,000 bond pending a coronesr investigation Friday.

Vision Obscured

An embankment that cuts off the vision of oncoming cars, and a demolished and unreplaced "stop" sign were partly blamed for the accident.

The Matterns spent their last four summers in Washington, coming here from their Erie, Pa., home. Mattern was born in Huntingdon, Pa., 1869. His career included reporting for the Brooklyn Daily Eagle, assistant telegraph editor of the Pittsburgh Post, and a Pittsburgh law practice until retirement for writing in 1926.

Robert J. Mattern, mayor of Collingswood, N. J., a brother, is here making funeral arrangements.

The fire resulted when oil which Willard was starting a fire, exploded. Willard had found the oil in a refuse can.

Over One Billion Dollars for Military Defense

Re-birth of militarism in the old world, hopelessness of general disarmament and grave danger of another general European conflict are seen by observers as reasons for President Roosevelt's budget estimate that it will cost the American people in excess of one billion dollars to protect themselves from foreign dangers in the fiscal year 1937. The president estimates it will cost the United States $193,000,000 more to maintain an adequate national defense in the 1937 fiscal year than it did during the current one.

Substitute AAA Plan Is Opposed

Executive Council Of National Farmer's Union Not In Favor Of Soil Conservation Move

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—The executive council of the National Farmers union, comprised of national and state officers of the union, on Monday, formally opposed the administration's soil conservation program as a substitute for AAA, as recommended by the national farm leaders conference last Saturday.

The union also urged retention of the provisions for using 30 per cent of import taxes for developing domestic and foreign markets for American agricultural products.

Officials of the union indicated they would insist on further legislation, including cost of production marketing measures providing for government regulation of marketing of farm commodities; refinancing of farm indebtedness at 1½ per cent interest rates, and fixing of adequate wages for farm labor and producers.

The board of directors of the national grange holding their annual meeting took no action today on the farm program. Louis J. Taber of Columbus, Ohio, head of the national grange, said while the board no doubt would take action during the week, it would not be satisfied merely with the soil conservation program, but would insist on a permanent farm legislation policy. He declined to discuss the grange's program pending actual introduction of farm measures in congress.

REWARD

"What's this poster about a reward for kidnapers of Rattlesnake Pete," said the traveling salesman.

"Has Pete been kidnaped?"

"Not yet," answered Mesa Bill. "The reward is for anybody that'll undertake the job."

There is mention of a ferry boat in the Bible. See II Samuel, chapter 19.
